

IT USED to be said that the safest place in the world was the deck of a ship, and the next-safest was on a moving train. More people died, in one year in Ohio, from falling down their own back stairs and breaking their necks than were killed riding on railroad trains.

But now the palm of safety seems to go to a San Francisco bay ferryboat, in a fog. In the last fifteen years, seven hundred and fifty million passengers have crossed the bay, with only two deaths from accidents due to fog. These two, if we remember correctly, were killed by a falling lifeboat, knocked loose in a collision.

TWO fatalities out of seven hundred and fifty million passengers. That means that, on an average, you would have to ride the ferries every day for over a million years before your turn came. More people were choked to death, from eating breakfast than that. A great many more were drowned in their own bathtubs. Quite as many were killed by lions and tigers, in San Francisco. As many were killed by things falling on them, out of a balloon. Many more were killed lighting the kitchen fire. More were killed by lightning. Many more died of blood poisoning, from a pin prick. Several times that number died of shock, on hearing good news. One man dropped dead on being offered the nomination for United States senator, and another on hearing a jazz band. You can not think of any accident so strange or rare that it has not killed more people than fog on the bay. So the safest place is a San Francisco bay ferryboat, in a fog.

THERE were 158 murders in Chicago in the first half of this year, and only 9 lynchings in the whole United States. Just by numbers, the lynching problem is negligible. But in significance, it will not lose its importance until it disappears entirely, as it has in all other law-abiding countries. More in the heat of passion, sometimes kill people in Europe, but it is only in America that they storm jails and deliberately execute prisoners who are in the hands of the law. That is not the mere violation of law; it is an attempt to overthrow law itself. Even 9 lynchings, then, are an unenviable record, and a still unsolved problem.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER is 87 and says he expects to live to be 100. Doubtless he won't. But if anybody is entitled to all the prolongation of life which medical science can devise, it is certainly John D. Rockefeller. No single force in modern times has contributed so much to the advancement of medical knowledge as the Rockefeller benefactions. They have financed research, encouraged the improvement of educational standards, set up a great medical foundation in China, and doubtless added a total of millions of years to individual human lives. If Rockefeller himself can enjoy a few of those years, it will be only fair play.

THE Shipping Board has "fired" another president of the Emergency Fleet Corporation. First it was Admiral Palmer and now it is Captain Palmer. The new man is a general, who may or may not know shipping. Anyhow, like his predecessors, he is in for a hot time.

It is not a question of the immediate issue which occasions any particular discharge. On that, either the board or the executive director of the fleet may be correct. But it is a revelation of a thoroughly impossible organization. The Shipping Board has had this from the beginning. Probably all of its members have been well-meaning and some of them have been intelligent, but none of them have been anything but helpless in the face of this situation. It has cost the American people unnumbered hundreds of millions, and there is no cure for it except to change the system. Only Congress can do that, and it has so far refused.

MUSSOLINI orders Italian authors to be the instruments of the "spiritual imperialism" of Italy. Also, he orders the newspapers to cut out everything but Fascist propaganda and news.

Since Mussolini obviously aspires to be another Caesar, he might read with profit the literary history of the later Caesars. When speaking-making on living issues became dangerous, Rome's orators became "declamators," practicing their eloquence on imaginary model cases of the remote past. Her literary scholars became grammarians, commentators on Cicero and Vergil, or compilers of pale imitations of Greek verse. The same thing happened in Russia under the Czars. Her historical scholars found it safer to compile the pedigrees of the Varangians or trace the wanderings of Genghis Khan than to learn the truth of actual Russia. Literature flourishes only when free, Mussolini's kept propagandists will not do it.

Preacher Indicted on Murder Charge

PASTOR HELD FOR SLAYING LUMBERMAN

Texas Grand Jury Returns True Bill Against Rev. J. F. Norris, Fort Worth

REQUIRE $10,000 BOND

Trial of Case Arising Out Of Killing in Parson's Study to Be in September

(By United Press)
FORT WORTH, Texas, July 29.—The Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist church, today was indicted for the murder of D. E. Chippis, wholesale lumberman, by the grand jury in criminal district court.

Chippis was slain in the study of the First Baptist church, July 17. Criminal District Judge George E. Hoseney said at noon he would require Norris to make $10,000 bond on recommendation of the district attorney's office.

The trial probably will be at the September term of court.

INDICT LEWIS ON CHARGE OF FRAUD

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, July 29.—E. G. Lewis, noted promoter, stands indicted by the federal grand jury today, together with three associates, on the charge of using the mails to defraud.

Postal inspectors claim that more than $850,000 is involved in the case. Lewis Cohen, an attorney, Henry L. Kramer and William Ahrens were indicted with Lewis.

It is reported the indictments were returned in connection with the promotion of the California Illustrated Review, one of Lewis' publications, which suspended more than a year ago.

Yacht Buffeted By Seas Is Safe

SAN PEDRO, July 29.—The 38-foot yacht "4081," owned by Allen Knight, wealthy San Francisco broker, was anchored in the harbor here today, after being buffeted by heavy seas for 60 hours, off Point Vicente. The yacht was towed here by a fishing boat.

30 Are Drowned By Japan Floods

TOKIO, July 29.—Thirty persons were known to have been drowned and 120 are missing as a result of floods in the Nigata prefecture, 160 miles northwest of Tokio. It was officially announced today. Approximately 750 houses were demolished by the floodwaters and 33 bridges collapsed. The bodies of the known dead have been recovered.

Hurls Self Under Car Wheels; Dies

BERKELEY, July 29.—William C. Williams, 40, of Grass Valley, died in a hospital here today, a suicide. Racing his automobile ahead of an electric train in this city last night, Williams outdistanced it, stopped his machine at a curb and, when the train approached, threw himself beneath the wheels.

Bandits Get $50,000 In Rail Holdup

AMESBURY, Mass., July 29.—Three men held up the baggage master on a train of the Amesbury branch of the Boston and Maine railroad today and escaped with $50,000, mostly in cash, and two mail sacks.

REV. J. F. NORRIS

Pastor of First Baptist church, Fort Worth, Tex., who today was indicted on a charge of having murdered D. E. Chippis, wholesale lumberman. The killing occurred in the pastor's study.

10 ARE KNOWN DEAD AS TOLL OF HURRICANE

SANTO DOMINGO, July 29.—Fishermen report that 54 bodies have been washed ashore at Saona island, near here, following the tropical hurricane of Saturday. The bodies are believed to be on the schooners Franciscus, Peaceful and Macoris, which sank enroute to the Windward Islands.

(By United Press)
MIAMI, Fla., July 29.—As the tropical hurricane, which has swept the Caribbean sea and the southern Atlantic coast of the United States for nearly a week, diminished to the proportions of a gale, a checkup today of the territory it swept showed a known death toll of 10 and property damage of more than $15,000,000.

Eight persons are known to be dead in Nassau, Bahamas, where the storm took its heaviest toll Saturday night and Sunday, according to a radio message from the Nassau liner Munamar, outside Nassau harbor. Two linemen were killed in Miami repair wires wrecked by the storm. In addition, two sailors are reported to be dead aboard an unidentified British steamer displaying distress signals off Fisher's island, near Miami.

Six more are believed to have perished on the two-masted whaleback steel barge, Dallas, which broke loose from a tow during the storm. The navy supply tug Bay Springs, enroute to Nassau to aid storm victims, passed a barge answering the description of the Dallas and found no signs of life aboard.

U. S. coast guard boats in south Florida waters have been ordered to proceed at once to Bimini to offer assistance to British residents there, according to word received here today from coast guard headquarters in Washington.

Bimini is in the center of the tropical hurricane which hit Florida and outlying islands Monday.

All Houses Destroyed
Practically every house in Bimini, 200 runners' paradise, was leveled by the Bahamas hurricane Monday, according to first authentic word brought here today by the storm-scarred yacht Zuleita II, which put in with her 21 passengers uninjured.

Two large churches and a large liquor warehouse were destroyed by the storm and several big rum boats at anchor in the harbor, G. F. Ellis and R. M. Hutchinson, owners of the boat, reported Bimini was a picture of destruction, with the ocean crisscrossed with wreckage and overturned coconut palms.

First Boat to Arrive
The Zuleita was the first boat to reach here since the Bahamas were cut off by the storm.

Ellis and Hutchinson reported the gale terrific, roaring over the island at 100 miles an hour from the south, then whipping about and raging from the north.

Ellis said storm damage must have been enormous, but as far as he could ascertain there had been no loss of life.

First definite word of the terrific toll taken by the hurricane, which swept Nassau, was received here today when the British colonial government there appealed to L. A. Oates, British vice consul here, for help.

All electric power lines on the island were wrecked by the storm and public utilities of all kinds still are crippled, the message said.

NAB WIDOW IN NEW JERSEY KILLING CASE

Mrs. F. S. Hall in Jail, Accused of Slaying Pastor Husband and Chorister

MYSTERY OF 4 YEARS

Arrest Follows Extended Inquiry Into Deaths of Parson and Sexton's Wife

(By United Press)
SOMERVILLE, N. J., July 29.—The Hall-Mills murder case will be taken before the grand jury, Prosecutor Francis Bergen, of Somerset county, announced today.

His statement was taken to mean that the new evidence, which caused the state to arrest Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the clergyman, was held in jail today, formally charged with the two murders, each covered by a separate complaint.

Branding the arrest as "ridiculous," Mrs. Hall was taken to jail shortly before 2:45 a. m. today. She was held without bail for the grand jury.

"I will make no statements until I learn what the murder charge is based on," she said.

There was a dramatic scene shortly before midnight, when the woman was arrested at her home in New Brunswick, N. J. State troopers were admitted to the home by servants, who awoke Mrs. Hall. She dressed before coming down stairs to meet the officers and, on reading the warrant, asked and received permission to telephone her attorney.

Arrest Follows Conference
Her arrest is understood to have followed an afternoon conference with the state police, Middlesex county authorities and Supreme Court Justice Charles W. Parker, at Morristown.

The murder of the clergyman and the choir singer, which occurred at New Brunswick in 1922, has been one of the greatest unsolved crimes of the east.

Hall, pastor of the Church of St. John the Divine, in New Brunswick, had left his home the night of September 14 to meet Mrs. Eleanor Mills, wife of James Mills, sexton of his church and a member of the choir.

Two days later, the bodies of the clergyman and the attractive choir singer were found on a farm near Brunswick. Hall had been shot through the head. But the slayer or slayers had turned full fury on the young woman with him. There were four bullets in Mrs. Mills' body, and her throat had been cut with a knife.

Pieces of Love Letters
About the bodies were scattered fragments of love letters the couple exchanged.

Mrs. Hall was questioned at the time, as was the choir singer's husband. Other suspects were questioned and apparently cleared to the satisfaction of state police. None was brought to trial.

The investigation was revived about two weeks ago on the strength of alleged new evidence, when Arthur S. Riehl filed a petition seeking annulment of his marriage to Louise Geist Riehl, a former servant in the Hall home, charging his wife with being a participant or an accessory to the murder of Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills.

At last night's services at Angelus temple, Mrs. McPherson read the lengthy statement given the press yesterday, and made several caustic remarks about the manner in which Ryan and Chief of Detectives Cline had handled the case.

ACQUITTALS IN 'SHAME TRIAL' ARE EXPECTED

(By United Press)
TIA JIANA, Mex., July 29.—With scarcely a word uttered in defense of Audrey and Clyde Petzet, who, with their father and mother, committed suicide, alleging their honor had been besmirched, the trial of four Mexicans, accused of the attacks, rapidly drew to a close here today.

Acquittal of Zenaido Hlanos, former police chief here; Luis Amador, ex-barkeeper; Refugio Alvarez, former bar tender, charged with aiding the crimes, appeared certain as the trial was resumed this morning.

W. D. Conlogue, former business partner of Thomas Petzet, father of the two girls, took the stand as a surprise witness late yesterday and made a valiant attempt to refute the charges of defense witnesses.

Conlogue declared that Petzet was not the drunkard defense witnesses had pictured him to be. He insisted that the girls were good and their mother was a fine woman.

Defense attorneys, however, played upon the fact that Conlogue had known the Petzets but two months before the tragedy, and the Mexican spectators in the courtroom laughed aloud as Conlogue was tricked into identifying a faked signature as that of Mr. Petzet.

Climaxing and tending to clinch the defense of four men on trial here for alleged attacks on Clyde and Audrey Petzet, the deposition of Joseph W. Kelly, New York City, special investigator for the American Federation of Labor, was read at today's hearing.

The affidavit branded the Petzet girls as of questionable reputation and "heavy drinkers." Thomas M. Petzet, their father, was unable to control his family, the investigator's report stated.

Attorneys for the accused men explained that Kelly was asked to investigate the case for the sake of harmony between Mexican and American labor organizations.

He was delegated by the American Federation of Labor to the task at the request of the Mexican federation, when representatives of both organizations met at an international convention in New York, several months ago.

According to the affidavit read in court today, Kelly made a special trip to Kansas City, former home of the Petzets, to investigate their life there.

He found that the two girls led an exceedingly wild life while there and that "Petzet was unable to control his family," the deposition stated.

GRAND JURY WILL RESUME AIMEE PROBE

Further Inquiry Ordered To Decide Whether Perjury Has Been Committed

STATEMENT BY KEYES

District Attorney Holds It Is His Duty to Offer New Evidence in Mystery

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, July 29.—The Los Angeles county grand jury, through its foreman, William H. Carter, announced today that it will refuse to reopen the Aimee Semple McPherson case unless a crime other than kidnapping can be proved.

"We are sick of beating around the bush and are not going to waste our valuable time longer," Carter said.

"Unless District Attorney Keyes furnishes us with evidence which will warrant an indictment or indictments against persons other than kidnapers, we will not handle a reopened case. Mr. Keyes' evidence must be conclusive this time."

(By United Press)
LOS ANGELES, July 29.—The Aimee Semple McPherson case will be reopened by the county grand jury next Tuesday, District Attorney Asa Keyes announced today, to "determine whether perjury has been committed" by persons who testified at previous hearings of the jury.

The following statement was issued by Keyes:

Sworn to Secrecy
The decision to reopen the case was reached at a conference attended by all the leading members of Keyes' staff, as well as representatives of the Bar association. It is understood that every person present was sworn to secrecy before the conference ended.

The conference followed the return to Los Angeles from Monterey of Deputy District Attorney Joseph Ryan and Chief of Detectives Herman Cline, who claim they secured "conclusive evidence" that the evangelist was not kidnapped, as she claimed.

All the Monterey witnesses, who are said to have identified Mrs. McPherson as the woman who occupied a bungalow in Carmel for several days following her disappearance on May 18, will be summoned to appear before the jury, it is said.

In the meantime, a thorough check of the new evidence is to be made. Experts will be asked to study specimens of handwriting and finger prints found on various articles in the Carmel bungalow.

Aimee Attacks Officials
Following a bitter attack on the official investigators and a demand by Mrs. McPherson that a "showdown" be made, the district attorney announced that he would "lay his cards on the table."

"I must remain silent on this matter until every bit of this new evidence has been fully digested," was the only comment Keyes offered.

Roland Woolley, one of Mrs. McPherson's attorneys, and Nick Harris, private detective, employed by the evangelist to search for the "Rose" and "Steve" of her kidnapping story, were reported to be in Monterey today, checking on recent developments there.

At last night's services at Angelus temple, Mrs. McPherson read the lengthy statement given the press yesterday, and made several caustic remarks about the manner in which Ryan and Chief of Detectives Cline had handled the case.

Faye Owes Nothing

OAKLAND, July 29.—Faye Lanphier, "Miss America," owes nothing to Louis C. "Tiny" Jacobs for his alleged co-operation in making her the queen of beauty, according to Superior Judge T. W. Harris.

Judge Harris yesterday gave a decision in favor of Miss Lanphier after three days' hearing in a suit through which Jacobs sought to collect $5961 from "Miss America."

Jacobs claimed he had "managed" Miss Lanphier on her beauty conquest on an agreement that he should receive half of her net earnings.

DEFI IS HURLED BY WITNESS IN ELECTION QUIZ

(By United Press)
CHICAGO, July 29.—The first story of alleged vote buying in the Illinois primary was told to the senate primary investigating committee today. Timothy McCarthy, East St. Louis newspaper man, charged that Charles Scendry, secretary of the Foreign Voters' league, of East St. Louis, had agreed to support Frank L. Smith, Republican senatorial nominee, for $6000. McCarthy said that Scendry claimed to control 125,000 votes in southern Illinois.

(By United Press)
CHICAGO, July 29.—While two Chicago political leaders waived any legal rights to silence, Thomas Cunningham, Philadelphia politician, today defied the senate primary investigating committee and stirred a sensation when Chairman Reed informed him he would be cited to the senate for contempt.

Charles V. Barrett and State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe opened up their county campaign financing to the committee, but Cunningham refused to tell where he obtained $50,000 which he a court clerk at $8000 a year—donated to the campaign of William S. Vare, Pennsylvania Republican senatorial nominee.

"This is not a threat," Reed told Cunningham.

Barrett submitted checks showing how $175,000 was spent for Frank L. Smith, Republican, senatorial nominee in Illinois, and the Crowe-Barrett county ticket.

The committee turned from its Pennsylvania and Illinois inquiry to question Smith W. Brookhart, Republican senatorial nominee in Iowa, who was in the audience.

Brookhart said he raised about $1900 or $2000 in his successful campaign and that his entire organization spent about $6000.

"You don't seem to have spent much money," Reed said.

"You don't have to when you stand for something," Brookhart replied.

CHURCH WILL CEASE RITES IN MEXICO

Prelates Decide to Stop Administering to Spiritual Needs of 14 Millions

UNDER FEDERAL ORDER

Episcopate Agrees Upon Course As Nation Moves Toward Bitter Struggle

(By United Press)
ROME, July 29.—Papal recourse to the interdict as a weapon for the church in the extraordinary situation which has arisen in Mexico, as a result of the conflict between the church and state, is possible, a Vatican spokesman told the United Press today. He said, however, that so far the Vatican had taken no step in that direction.

The Mexican episcopate reached this decision today, as this country moved swiftly toward a tremendous struggle between church and state, such as the new world so far has not experienced.

Will Take Over Churches
While the venerable Archbishop Mora del Rio, head of the church in Mexico, was gathering his forces for the supreme test of passive resistance, the government actively prepared to take over control of abandoned churches and their contents and federal judicial offices were studying the words of churchmen to determine whether or not they could be construed as seditious.

Rumors of arrests today began to circulate around the capital. "El Universal," a local newspaper, reported that the editor of "El Mundo," of Tampico, and the editor of "Correo de Chihuahua," of Chihuahua, had been arrested today because of religious articles published in their papers. If these reports are true, the arrests would constitute the first of this nature.

The Spanish minister today denied the rumor that Spain would withdraw recognition from Mexico because of the religious laws.

There was no letup today in the pilgrimage of the faithful to the holy places. Confirmation and baptism of infants continued unabated.

Troops Held in Readiness
More than 15,000 church buildings are affected in the decision to abandon churches, of which 500 are in the federal district alone.

A demonstration of the Confederation of Labor will be held here Sunday, in support of the government's policy. Plans called for a parade of 150,000 members through main streets of the city.

INTERDICTION MAY BE USED AGAINST MEXICO
LONDON, July 29.—The Evening Standard today intimates that the interdict is to be used against Mexico. The paper fears for public order in that event.

The news that Mexico is to be placed under an interdict, says the Standard, "is serious, not only from a religious point of view, but from the viewpoint of public order. The secular effect of this order may easily be to drive religious people to efforts aimed at the overthrow of those authorities whose action brought about the deprivation of the right to worship."

2 Suspects Held In Stabbing Case
LOS ANGELES, July 29.—J. J. "Peg" Williams and Clifford "Panama" Brown, negroes, are being held in jail today as suspects in an attack upon Albert Richmond, Fullerton, here Tuesday. Richmond was stabbed several times and for a time it was feared he would die. Attendants in the General hospital reported today, however, that his condition was greatly improved.

SUICIDE DEATH IS VERDICT OF INQUEST JURY

Willard Brownson, 20-year-old son of R. R. Brownson, wealthy Up-land rancher, came to his death by his own hand, according to a verdict reached by a coroner's jury at the inquest held late yesterday in the Smith and Tutill funeral parlors.

Young Brownson's death occurred in a manner as spectacular as has been recorded in this county. He fired a shot into his right temple while standing on Woods' Point, Laguna Beach, Tuesday afternoon, his body falling off the point, 35 feet, to the ocean below.

No motive for the taking of his own life was found by authorities. Powder burns on the boy's head, together with the report that a woman saw the body fall after hearing the fatal shot, indicated suicide beyond a reasonable doubt, authorities said.

Date for the funeral has not been set. The body will be sent to Upland for burial.

MRS. BROOKS IN ATTACK ON MODIFIED LAW

Declaring the dog vaccination ordinance of the county pernicious and inconsistent, Mrs. Barbara Brooks today asserted that the ordinance, as modified by the board of supervisors, offers no practical relief, and that for this reason it is unacceptable to dog owners of the county.

"The ordinance is a violation of constitutional rights," Mrs. Brooks said. "It still should be carried in mind that no fee can be charged by the county veterinarian, or any of his deputies, for vaccination of dogs, as no fee is specified in the ordinance."

"In connection with the subject of fees, I think that it is only just to Mayor Purinton and other members of the city council to say that his statements, before the supervisors, as quoted in The Register, that the chief reason why the city council did not pass the ordinance was the excessive price for vaccination, ($2.50) when the cost of serum is only 36 cents, should not be interpreted as meaning that the city council was willing to place the health and safety of the people of Santa Ana in jeopardy because they were unwilling to pay for the cost of protection."

"I think we all are willing to agree that if the city council had been convinced that the public safety was endangered and that vaccination was a protection, the ordinance would have been passed, regardless of the price of the vaccination. We should do our councilmen the justice of believing this."

"Under the modified ordinance, dog owners outside of incorporated cities will be forced to tie up their dogs, confine them in a tight enclosure, or submit them to the dangers of vaccination."

Makes Dogs Cross
"Tying up or confining a dog makes a dog cross and deprives him of the exercise necessary to good health, besides, in great measure, depriving the owner of the protection afforded by the dog. Dogs are doing the police work of the county in the outlying district remote from police supervision."

"They are the natural guardians of property, the faithful protectors of women and children on the lonely ranches of the county. They are protectors of the crops of the county from coyotes, rabbits and other destroyers and are an asset to the farmer in every sense of the word, when free and unhampered in the discharge of their services."

"The inconsistency of the ordinance lies in the fact that vaccination is demanded for dogs alone, when, according to the best allopathic medical authority, cats are equally susceptible and all warm blooded animals, including horses and cattle, are subject to rabies."

"There are 10 cats for every one dog and 10 bites and scratches from cats to every one from dogs, especially among children."

Would Kill Cats
The only reason the doctors are not demanding vaccination for the cats is because the majority of cat owners of ordinary cats would kill the cats rather than pay $2.50 to vaccinate them, while nearly all of us are willing to pay $2.50 rather than kill our dogs."

"I wish it understood that I am not urging the including of cats in the ordinance. I am glad some animals have been fortunate enough to escape the demands of vaccination. I am simply calling attention to the inconsistency of these so-called protectors of the public health."

"We still are demanding the repeal of the ordinance and shall continue to demand it until it is wiped off the books."

"I cannot conceive of a better use for the ballot than to use it in defense of medical freedom and I urge every dog owner to register in the short time left and prepare to express his disapproval of what has been done by our supervisors."

FRECKLED KIDS
VIE FOR YOST
PRIZES FRIDAY

"Freck" and "Speck" and all the other freckled-faced kiddies, both boys and girls, in Orange county can stick out their tongues at the world tomorrow—

They are going to have their inning!

Manager E. D. Yost of the Yost Broadway theater announced today he would conduct a freckled-face contest at the local playhouse.

The kiddie that has the most freckles is going to get a prize. So is the kid that has the next to the most.

There will be something nice, too, for the kiddie that is next to the kid that is next to the youngest with the most freckles. Mickey Daniels, the speckled-faced youth who shines in the movies in the "Our Gang" comedies, will be in Santa Ana and he hopes to meet every freckled kid in the county at the Yost Broadway tomorrow noon at 12:30 o'clock, according to Manager Yost.

Mickey will help conduct the contest. So will Little Mary Kornman, another of the noted and talented "Our Gang" stars.

$500,000 Lost In Marysville Fire

MARYSVILLE, Cal., July 29.—Flames, which threatened to engulf the business district of the city, were halted early today, after the local fire-fighters were called. Damage was conservatively placed at a half million dollars.

Starting in a motion picture theater housing 800 persons, the flames spread to five other structures and this morning the National theater, the Elks club, which was dedicated less than a year and a half ago, and the Suez Sing buildings were in ruins.

The Ellis block, Marysville Appeal building and the Robinson Paint company building, which houses the post office, were partly burned.

Gets Ring Back;
Litigation Ends

FRESNO, July 29.—A diamond engagement ring, valued at $1000, which has caused several months of legal litigation between Geoffrey H. Byrne, said to be the son of a wealthy New York family, and Miss Evelyn Stafford, a nurse, was again in Byrne's possession today. Byrne brought civil suit against Miss Stafford several months ago to regain possession of the ring, which he claimed she refused to return after their engagement was broken. The case was settled out of court.

10 KNOWN DEAD
IN TROPIC STORM

$5,000,000 damage at Nassau were not definitely confirmed by the wireless message which, however, intimated the damage was very high. It gave no estimate of the number of lives lost.

The government wireless station at Nassau was wrecked by the hurricane. It has not yet been fully repaired. The message to Oates was one of the first received from the station since communication was broken off Sunday.

Property damage to the Florida east coast is estimated at from $7,000,000 to $10,000,000. Hundreds of boats were sunk, bridges and roads washed away and communication and power lines torn down by the 100-miles-an-hour gale.

Today is the first direct communication Miami has had with the north except by Tropical Radio since the storm hit here Monday.

TROPICAL STORM
STRIKES SAVANNAH

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 29.—The tropical storm, which has been traveling up the Atlantic coast since Monday, struck Savannah this morning, after heavy rains and high tides late yesterday and last night had done considerable damage to the city and nearby territory.

The force of the storm was much diminished, only minor property damage was reported. Buildings under construction had been sand-bagged and other precautions taken to curb the effect of high winds.

Record-breaking tides, which late yesterday inundated Tybee Island, near here, had subsided somewhat today, although the ocean level still was above normal. National Guard troops, forced to abandon their summer camp on the island, were held ready for emergency service, should unexpected damage follow in the storm's wake.

Moody Regains
Vote Majority

DALLAS, Tex., July 29.—Dan Moody regained his majority standing in the Texas Democratic gubernatorial race on the basis of returns today to the Texas election bureau from Saturday's primary. Returns from 249 counties, including 173 complete, gave Moody a 668 majority out of a total tabulated vote of 797,714.

AUTHORITY TO FIX BUDGETS IS CONFIRMED

Of interest to the various school trustees in the county is a decision handed down by the third appellate court of California confirming the authority of school trustees, whether of elementary or high school districts, to determine the financial requirements of their respective school districts, and to fix the school budgets without interference from the county superintendent, the county auditor or members of the board of supervisors, according to advice received by R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools.

The decision holds that boards of supervisors are without authority to slash budgets prepared by district school authorities as long as such budgets come within authorized tax limits.

The decision, Superintendent Mitchell pointed out, if upheld by the supreme court, to which an appeal is expected to be taken, is regarded as one of the most far-reaching decisions ever handed down, in that it gives school trustees, even in small elementary school districts in the county, virtually absolute power in fixing budgets.

The decision, however, denied the petition of trustees of three Butte county school districts for a writ of mandate directing the county auditor to levy a special tax to raise approximately $3500, slashed from the budgets by the supervisors. It was held that action should have been directed against the supervisors instead of the county auditor.

Commenting upon the decision, Superintendent Mitchell explained that there have been several instances where his office has found it necessary to return budgets of small districts for revision and adjustment. He added, however, that without a single exception there has been a general tendency on the part of local school trustees to co-operate with the county authorities in keeping down budgets and tax rates to such levels as will insure economy consistent with efficiency.

As a result, he asserted, the greater number of school districts are below authorized tax limits and only a few are approaching maximum allowances.

Mayor Restrained
From Firing Police

WARREN, O., July 29.—A temporary injunction was granted today in an effort to prevent this city of 40,000 population, abolishing its entire police department as an economy move.

The injunction restrains Mayor J. H. Marshall and 13 city officials, including members of the city council, from discharging the chief of police and 20 men Saturday midnight.

The suit claims the ordinance making this a policeless city was passed illegally.

Dental Service

With bad teeth come bad health, bad breath and an unsightly mouth. With bad teeth comes pain and expense, but a modern dental concern, such as ours, minimizes both those disagreeable things. There is no such thing as "painless" dentistry, but proper care, gentleness, and modern equipment can remove nearly all the pain. We do so.

People tell us that our charges are considerably less than the average dentist charges. You can know that in advance if you care to, because we examine your teeth and estimate the expense if any, free of charge. Through the careful co-operation of a number of associates, we find it possible to reduce ordinary expenses considerably.

We want to be of real service to everybody. We want to be of real service to you—and if you give us the chance we will do our best for you—cheerfully, faithfully and sincerely.

Bad Teeth

A Heritage of Civilization

A patient the other day was wondering what the Indians did when they had the tooth ache. Excepting accidents, Indians never had the tooth ache. Tooth ache is a penalty people pay for being "civilized." Indians didn't drink hot coffee and eat ice cream. Their food was never taken at extreme temperatures. Their teeth were kept clean by eating only substantial foods. Their teeth were naturally strong because they were used to chew crushed corn, acorns and the like. Soft foods, excepting meat, was unknown. No Indian ever chewed gum or ate taffy. But civilization does all these unfavorable things, and so we must have dentists to keep our teeth in the best possible condition, to study teeth and tell us how to care for them.

RODEO TO BE HELD ON FAIR GROUNDS

The new Orange County fair grounds, on the state highway between Anaheim and Santa Ana, will be thrown open to the public on Saturday of this week, when a rodeo, on a small scale, will be held.

The Orange County Riding club will stage the rodeo and it will be free to the public, according to an announcement made today by H. A.
Lake, president of the county fair.
According to Lake, the rodeo will start promptly at 1:30 Saturday afternoon. All the horses that will take part in the rodeo at the Orange County fair, September 6 to 11, will participate in the Saturday rodeo.

The new quarter mile track, completed this week, also will be used for the first time on Saturday.
rollers being used every hour to pack down the turf.
Temporary bleachers, to seat 2000, will be up by Saturday and everyone is invited to attend.

BAND PROGRAM ANNOUNCED BY
D. C. CLANFONI

The program arranged for the band concert, at 7:30 tonight, in Birch park, is announced as follows,
by Director D. C. Clannoni: March, "Spirito Americano" (Rugliere); overture, "La Gazza Ladra" (Rossini); selection, "Cavalleria Rusticana" (Mascagni); vocal solo,
"Good Bye" (F. Tosti), Maurice Phillips; quartet, from "Rigoletto" (Verdi); selection of Italian folk songs, arranged by Clarke; trombone solo, "Il Bacio" (Arditi), by D.
C. Clannoni; march, "Il Bersagliere"
(E. Bicalari).

The director today prepared sketches of the two Italian composers, to whom the program has been dedicated, as follows:
Pietro Mascagni, born in Leghorn, Italy, December 7, 1863, the son of a baker, who wished him to study law. He secretly studied the piano and later studied harmony counterpoint and composition. His father, finding him out, locked him in the house and at 14 years of age he was rescued by an uncle. Following his uncle's death, he was befriended by Count Forestani, while studying with Ponchielli and Saladino at Milano conservatory. With "Cavalleria Rusticana" he won the prize offered by the music publisher, Sonzogno, for a one-act opera. The opera was a wonderful success.

Giuseppe Verdi, born in Roncole, Italy, October 9, 1813; died in Milano, January 27, 1901; son of inn keeper and grocer; music pupil, and at age of 10 was successor to the village organist. At Milano he was refused admission to the conservatory by Director Basilli, who thought him lacking in musical talent. His most successful operas are "Otello," "La Gioconda di Reno," "Nabucco," "Il Lombardi," "Ernani," "I Due Foscari," "Macbeth," "I Masnadieri," "Luisa Miller," "Stiffello," "Arnoldo," "Rigoletto," "Il Trovatore," "La Traviata," "I Vespri Siciliani," "Simon Boccanegra," "Un Ballo in Maschera," "La Forza del Destino," "Don Carlos,"
"Aida," "Otello" and "Falstaff."

In 1933, he was given the title of "Marchese di Busseto." He lived in his villa, Santa Agata, near Bus-seto. His funeral was attended by 100,000 persons, although his will directed that funeral services should be simple and quiet. He left the bulk of his fortune to the home for aged musicians.

MISS PHILLIPS
TO REMAIN AS OFFICE CHIEF

Under the new office arrangements inaugurated in the board of education offices, involving the appointment of George W. Duncan as business manager, Miss Elizabeth H. Phillips, secretary to the board, will remain in charge of the office administration and will have charge of the purchase of regular school and office supplies. It was explained today by Alex. Brownridge, president of the board.
Duncan will act as superintendent of buildings and grounds and give his attention to the care and preservation of school property, as well as act as advisor to the board in all matters relating to repairs, alterations and improvements.

In making this statement, Brown-ridge took occasion to commend the services of Miss Phillips, which, he declared, not only had been satisfactory, but equally well appreciated by the school trustees.
The employment of Duncan is for the purpose of relieving Miss Phillips of some of the outside duties, previously performed by the late F.

Court Notes

Check Charge Filed
A charge of issuing a check on the First National bank of Santa Ana, without having sufficient funds on deposit to cover the amount called for by the check, was filed with the district attorney's office yesterday by Sid Smithwick, assistant chief of police. The check, dated June 7, was indorsed by A. Adrain.

Asks Trust Fund Money.
Christina Meares today filed suit in the superior court to force Henrietta Finn, as administratrix of the estate of George M. Meares, deceased, to deliver to her $3002.14, alleged to have been created in a trust fund for her by Meares. The complaint alleges that the defendant is holding the fund as a part of the estate of George M. Meares and refuses to deliver it to Christina Meares, except on the order of the court. The complaint was filed through Attorney Denis Everts Bowman, of Los Angeles.

Hearing Is Continued
S. Gonzales, Juan Romero and Louis Gonzales, accused of attack with a deadly weapon on Manuel M. Salas, appeared for preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison today, but the hearing was continued until next Saturday, at 3 a. m. The attack is alleged to have occurred July 23 at Atwood.

Settled Out of Court
The case brought in the Orange county superior court by Ernest C.
Gibbs, of Anaheim, against the Orange County Title company, to enjoin the company from selling property under a trust deed, was settled out of court, before trial of the case was scheduled to begin today before Judge E. J. Marks, of department No. 2. The property involved was a $25,000 peach orchard, in Riverside county, it was shown in the complaint.

MODERN WOMAN DOESN'T SIT DOWN AND MAKE OWN FROCK LIKE GRANDMOTHER USED TO

"Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy," the famous advice offered by the Bard of Avon, is undoubtedly followed religiously by modern femininity, but who makes the frocks with which Milady adorns and heightens her charms?

Time was, when the gentle woman (lovely and significant phrase of an earlier day) deemed it not beneath her dignity to fashion her own lovely apparel. But what of her descendant, the woman of today?

When grandmother was young she occasionally would mend a new dress. Did she run down the street and purchase one at a ready-to-wear store? She did not. She would go down the street, however, and purchase about 20 yards of various materials, return home and start work on the dress.

Was Generous Creation

In a few weeks the new frock would be complete. On it would be ruffles and tucks, buttons and snaps, lace and embroidery, and always it would be lined and boned.
After finishing the gorgeous creation, she would wear it for three or four years as her "Sunday-go-to-meeting" dress and then would use it for several more years as her next best dress, after which it would be worn as an every-day dress for five or six added years.

Usually it would not have been worn out by that time, so the grandmother would rip it up and make it into a suitable frock for her daughter, or niece, as the case might be, said Miss Myrtle Vencil, buyer at the Rankin's dry goods store.

The lasting quality of the material was what made it possible for Mi-lady to make her dress instead of buying it at a store, ready made.

"But of late the world is speeding up," continued Miss Vencil,
"and nowadays there is not the time to spend in the careful making of a costume. It is much easier to rush into a store and purchase a frock than it is to have to bother with the material and spend the hours in its making. And an other thing to be considered is that where a garment of 1849 might have lasted 20 years, one of 1926 very seldom is wearable after its second season."

"Ready-to-Wear" Popular

"The number of women who buy ready-made clothing has increased greatly in the last 10 years," Miss Vencil said. "Nowadays almost anyone may purchase a dress for as little as $14.75, and often these are made of very nice material and the workmanship is as good as one would expect from those same purchasers if they attempted to make the garment."

"But last year, ready-to-wear sales fell off considerably, owing to the utter simplicity of the styles. Even those not very clever with a needle could make one of the straight untrimmed frocks, which were so popular last year."

Miss Vencil said that this sudden ambition on the part of women to make their own clothes has led to the new styles, which can be made only by an experienced seamstress.
These new styles, with their complicated sleeves, uneven hems and draped skirts, will take more time than the modern miss has to put into her sewing.

School Girls Sew

While more and more women are purchasing their clothes ready made, many high school girls are taking up sewing, according to Miss Ruth Rowland, head of the home economics department.

These girls, Miss Rowland said, often do not care for sewing when they enter the class, but nearly every one likes it well enough at the end of the term to study sewing for the second year. In these classes, the girls are taught the rudiments of plain sewing, where, except for a bit of handwork as trimming, embroidery and similar needlework practically is unknown.

Miss Rowland declared that at the end of a two-year course in sewing, the girls could make almost any kind of dress, elaborate or plain, and that the majority of them continued sewing after finishing school.

CONSERVATION BODY CONVENES AT ARROWHEAD

According to reports from the annual convention of the Southern California Conservation association, held a few days ago at Lake Arrowhead, threatening clouds hovered over the convention when the resolutions committee presented a resolution sponsored by Chief Engineer Reagan, of the Los Angeles flood control district, requesting the department of the interior, in Washington, to issue the special use permit for the construction of a railroad on the floor of the San Gabriel canyon, to be used in building a flood control dam at the forks.

Reporting the session, the Monrovia Messenger says:

"Making the resolution as a point of order, former state senator S.
Burlingame Johnson, of Pasadena, lost no time in injecting cost estimate figures for dam construction in the canyon while pleading his point of order. So eloquent was the former senator that the delegates from the counties settled down expecting to hear Los Angeles county "ah!" Its sectional grievance, but were doomed to disappointment, as the presiding officer, Francis Cuttle, of Riverside, ruled the resolution out of order.

"The annual convention was in the nature of a celebration of the $100,000 federal funds secured for improvements in the four national forests of Southern California.

"After Harvey Bissell had made an account of the stewardship of the conservation association and leading conservationists had spoken on the various phases of the work being carried on with good results, Washington officials declared that the conservationists in Southern California were without peers in the nation in putting into execution the doctrines so often enunciated by Theodore Roosevelt.

"You people in Southern California are the leaders of the nation in conservation, fire prevention, reforestation and recreation," said Congressman Arthur Free, while delivering a historical address on the development work of the federal forest service. "You had facts and figures that enabled me to show Washington officials that giving you $100,000 for preventive measures was a direct saving to the federal government in fire suppression costs.

"Every delegate present remained to hear George Barnes, president of the American Reforestation association, preach his sermon on "Trees' Sunday morning.

Traces Tree Destruction

"Tracing the destruction of the world's forests and results in every country, the speaker brought home the great fact that in 1924 there were 92,000 forest fires in the United States that burned over an area of 31,000,000 acres; that in 1925 followed the greatest drought ever known in the United States; that in January, 1926, there were 779 bond issues in the United States covering water development and representing over two billions of dollars.

"Building great concrete dams to hold back the water is not the solution," said Barnes. "Reforestation is the only solution to conserve the water in the ground and it is time for the agriculturists and the horticulturists to awaken to nature's methods for furnishing a water supply for any given area."

Funds To Be Matched

"The distribution of the $100,000 federal funds to be matched by a like amount from the southern counties was distributed to the four southern forests on a percentage basis:

Angelus, 42 1-2 per cent; Santa Barbara, 25 per cent; San Bernardino, 17 1-2 per cent; and the Cleveland, 15 per cent. Forest Supervisor Cecil reminded the other forest superisors that Los Angeles county stood ready to match the entire amount.

"Harvey S. Bissell, La Crescenta, was elected president and will be assisted by five vice presidents:

"Francis Cuttle, San Bernardino;
W. S. Rosecrans, Gardena; W. B.
Starke, Santa Barbara; C. E. Kelsey, Santa Paula; Russ Ballard, Los Angeles.

"H. S. Ryerson will continue as secretary-manager."

BOND CONTROVERSY CARRIED TO COURT

The controversy regarding the designation of the fund into which about $15,000 premium money on the $320,000 bond issue of the Brea-Olinda union high school district was carried to the superior court today, with the formal submission of the issue through papers filed by District Attorney A. P. Nelson, through his deputy, David Werthlin, and County Auditor William C.
Jerome and County Treasurer J. C.
Joplin.

The statement of issue sets forth that Jerome has refused to allow the money to be used for the purpose of buying additional school equipment, as desired by A. H.
Brown, H. E. Becker, H. R. Williams, W. D. Shaffer and G. W. Cullen, trustees of the district.

All that is sought is an opinion as to which fund the money shall be credited. Judge E. J. Marks, of department number two, will hear the case within a few days, it was said.

HARRY H. CROOKE
Fullerton
Candidate for County Assessor

HARRY CROOKE ASKS FOR ASSESSOR POST

In this issue of the Register appears the political announcement of Harry H. Crooke, present mayor of Fullerton, and candidate for county assessor.

Mr. Crooke is peculiarly well fitted to take charge of the office, due to his wide experience and proven capacity, and Mr. Crooke's friends and supporters ask nothing more than for the voters to seriously consider his splendid record of the past 30 years.

Mr. Crooke came to Orange county from Davies county, Indiana, while a resident there he served one term in the state legislature, was president of the county board of supervisors; served on the board of equalization, and was appraiser for his county six years.

Mr. Crooke for 10 years was actively engaged in farming and is intimately acquainted with the difficulties and questions which arise from the agricultural and horticultural districts; as a banker he has served both as director and president for approximately 20 years, acquiring intimate and accurate knowledge of the various forms of finance.

Since coming to Fullerton he has been active in city, county and state affairs, and through his untiring efforts many successful projects have materialized. He was elected mayor of Fullerton, April 1924, and re-elected in 1926.

Mr. Crooke is the only candidate for a county office in northern Orange county, and is one of the staunchest supporters of unity in county affairs.

Avoid Poorly Balanced Breakfasts

Start the day with Quaker Oats—food that "stands by" you.

If you feel tired, hungry, "fidgety," hours before lunch, don't jump to the conclusion of poor health. Thousands have unenergetic mornings because they start the day with wrong breakfasts.

To feel right, you must have a well-balanced, complete breakfast ration. At most other meals—lunch and dinner—you get it. But breakfast is a hurried meal, often badly chosen.

Thus Quaker Oats, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder, 58% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all-important vitamins and the "bulk" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today. Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation this rich food offers you. Get Quaker Oats today. Grocers have two kinds: Quick Quaker, which cooks in 3 to 5 minutes, and Quaker Oats.

Former S. A. Minister Conducts Wedding Of His Son

THE recent visit here in his former pastorate of the Rev. Joseph A. Stevenson of San Jose, revealed to friends many details of the wedding on July 18, of his son, Joseph Donald Stevenson, and Miss Grace Helen Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mabel Jones of San Bernardino. The Stevenson home in San Jose was the scene of the wedding and the Rev. Mr. Stevenson read the marriage service most impressively for his elder son. The latter has been an electrician in San Bernardino where Miss Jones was a teacher in the city schools and extremely popular in school and social circles.

Preceding the ceremony was a brief interval of music during which Howard De Witt Pugh sang "Because" and other numbers with Mrs. Pugh at the piano. The latter remained at the piano to render the Wedding March from Lohegrin as the processional to which the bridal party entered the room.

Miss Jones was gowned in the traditional white satin while her bridesmaid, Miss Alice Peck of Stanford, wore apricot georgette.

The happy young couple went at once to their new home on the ranch, recently purchased by Dr. Stevenson and located about 25 miles from San Jose. Mr. Stevenson Jr. has always wanted to take up ranch work and management, so the announcement that his father had paved the way for his dream to be realized, was an unexpected and delightful wedding present.

Mrs. Stevenson Sr. is so happy over her new daughter-in-law that she decided to forego the eastern trip upon which Dr. Stevenson left last Monday, and remain in San Jose in order to be near the newly wedded pair and to make a home for the second son, James, who is taking work in summer school.

Young People Return From Vacation Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Burns have returned from a delightful motor trip north and to Yosemite park. They spent one week in San Francisco where Mrs. Burns had the pleasure of greeting several of her girlhood friends from Honolulu who are summering in "The States." One of them, Mrs. Thomas O'Dowda, came on south to Los Angeles for a visit with Mrs. Burns' sister, Mrs. Ralph W. Corlett of Los Angeles, and will come to Santa Ana next week for a short stay.

From San Francisco the Santa Anans went on to the Yosemite where they had an enjoyable stay, many happy details of which were perpetuated with pictures. They are at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Barr Burns, parents of Carl Burns, during the absence of Mrs. Elmer Burns in Europe.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

In anticipation of the opening of the fall term at Junior High School, a high school announcement was made today by the dean of girls, Mrs. Iva M. Webber, that the school uniform of plain or pleated blue serge skirt and white middie with blue collar and cuffs would be required of the girl students. Hosiery will be cotton and shoes will be low heeled. With the middies will be worn Windsor ties, black for the ninth grade; blue for the eighth and green for the seventh.

Members of the Santa Ana Country club who are planning to attend the monthly card party to be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock are requested to make their reservations as soon as possible. During the evening punch will be served.

Big Snake Throws Scare Into Crowd

CHICAGO, July 29.—A six-foot python, crawling leisurely up State street, near Madison, "the world's busiest corner," caused a panic as hundreds ran to safety. The reptile, used by a dancer in her act, escaped from a hamper in which she was carrying it. She pursued and retrieved it, after which a discreet policeman advanced and arrested her for disorderly conduct.

Smart New Ensemble

A cape ensemble of brown kasha trimmed with narrow leather bands, subtly cut and fitted around the waist and hip-line. The collar is of natural linen and with it is worn a large plaid tie in shades of red and brown. The outfit carries a certain military suggestion and was copied from a smart French model.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Noble M. McBride (Aimee E. Larson) of Long Beach left today for San Francisco and other points of interest for two weeks. Mrs. McBride has been spending the past week in Santa Ana with her mother, Mrs. Larson, and sister, Miss Ada Marie Larson, 814 North Van Ness avenue.

Mrs. Mary Wright, 1114 West First street, is spending the summer with relatives in Aurora, Neb. Last Sunday, she was the recipient of a surprise in the form of a large family picnic at which the Sam, Charles and Alfred Campbell families attended. She plans to return sometime in October, according to word received by friends.

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Stephenson, Morton and Ruth Stephenson have returned to their home at 433 West Santa Clara avenue, from an automobile trip which took them as far north as Vancouver, B. C., and covered a distance of 4000 miles. Stops were made at Oakland, Roseburg, Portland, Centralia, Everett, Victoria and Vancouver, and side trips were enjoyed to Port Angeles, Crescent Lake, and Rainier National Park. At Centralia, Wash., they were joined by Dr. and Mrs. Robert Stephenson and daughter Elizabeth, who accompanied them to Vancouver. Mrs. Robert Stephenson returned to Santa Ana with the party and will visit here for a few days before returning to her home in Centralia.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Bradley of Cypress avenue, are spending some time at Balboa Island, Mr. Bradley commuting into Santa Ana to his work. Mrs. N. X. Miller and little daughter Betty Jean of Los Angeles spent last week as their guests, joined on Saturday for the weekend by Mr. Miller.

Mrs. J. R. Selbrandt of Kansas City, Mo., arrived in the city last evening and spent a few days visiting at the home of Mrs. R. Schulte, 1033 West Camille street.

The Rev. and Mrs. Milford Tidball, 2104 Santiago street, are enjoying a visit from their daughters and grand children, Mrs. D. T. Wiemas, and Masters Elton and Harold Wiemas, of Santa Barbara, and Mrs. Fredrick Book-enogen and little daughter Edith Helen of South Pasadena.

Dr. Peryl Magill who, with her sister, Miss Julia Magill, has been enjoying a five-weeks' ramble through California beauty spots including the redwood forests, will return to her office next Monday, relieving Dr. Mabel Vance Tremain who has had charge of the office and practice during her absence.

Los Angeles Dentist Is Wedded Here in Parents' Home

DECKED WITH greenery and rose-tinted blossoms, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carey E. Clem, 1083 West Third street, was the scene yesterday afternoon of a pretty wedding when Miss Verla Ray of Los Angeles, became the bride of Dr. Kenneth C. Clem, son of the hosts.

In the living room, a garland of fern and pink carnations extended from the chandelier to a wide window and formed a charming background for the wedding ceremony. This was conducted by the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church.

Miss Ray wore a lovely frock of orchid georgette and carried bride roses and white sweet peas. There were no attendants.

Immediately after the ceremony, wedding fees and cakes were served. Each pretty nut cup contained an attractive little favor. Later the happy young couple left for San Diego and will also spend part of their honeymoon at Catalina. The bride traveled in a smart costume of oyster white silk with white cloak, hat and footwear.

Dr. Clem is located in Los Angeles where he practices his profession of dentistry. He graduated in 1925 from University of Southern California. His bride is the daughter of Hiram Ray of Los Angeles and her schooling was received in her native state of Idaho.

Those who witnessed the pretty wedding ceremony included Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Clem and son Elmer; Mr. and Mrs. Marcus D. Lassiter, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil L. Clem and children, Drusilla May and Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schultz and children, Phyllis Jean and Charles Jr.; Hiram Ray and sons, Clarence, Harold and Delbert.

Pleasant Afternoon Celebrates Birthday

Mrs. Isa Morrow was delightfully surprised yesterday afternoon when a number of friends and neighbors dropped in to spend the afternoon in honor of her eighty-second birthday. The surprise was planned by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Morrow, 1424 Spurgeon street, with whom she makes her home.

The time was spent in friendly chat during which the guests expressed their wishes for many more happy anniversaries for Mrs. Morrow Sr. Late in the afternoon, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Earl Morrow.

Girl Reserves to Go To Camp Osceola

About fifty girls with adult advisors are planning to go from Orange county next Tuesday to the Y. W. C. A. camp for the Girl Reserves. They will go to Camp Osceola in the San Bernardino mountains to stay one week. Miss Nancy Elder, local Y. W. C. A. secretary, announces that the camp quota is not entirely filled and that registrations may still be made this week.

Two Pleasant Parties As Farewell Events For Mrs. Parker

Mrs. Mary Parker of West Fifth street, was given a very happy surprise Tuesday afternoon, when a large number of her old friends of Santa Ana Review, Women's Benefit association, arrived at her home to spend the afternoon with her and bid her farewell, as she is leaving next Tuesday for a trip to Shenandoah, La., and Alexander, Neb., where she was born. In both places she will visit with relatives and old friends, later going to various points in western Kansas, including Edmund. Mrs. Parker will be away three months.

Mrs. Parker's daughter, Mrs. O. L. Parker, was in the secret and told the honoree that she was going to town to bring a friend out to pay a visit. She decorated the living room with low bowls of pink and lavender flowers before leaving, so that all was in readiness for the coming of the guests, who gathered at the home of Mrs. H. P. Towner and were transported to the Parker home in automobiles.

After Mrs. Parker had recovered her composure, the time was spent with fancy work and chat and the traveler was showered with dainty handkerchiefs. Ice cream and wafers were served cafeteria style late in the afternoon and the guests wished Mrs. Parker a happy vacation and a safe return.

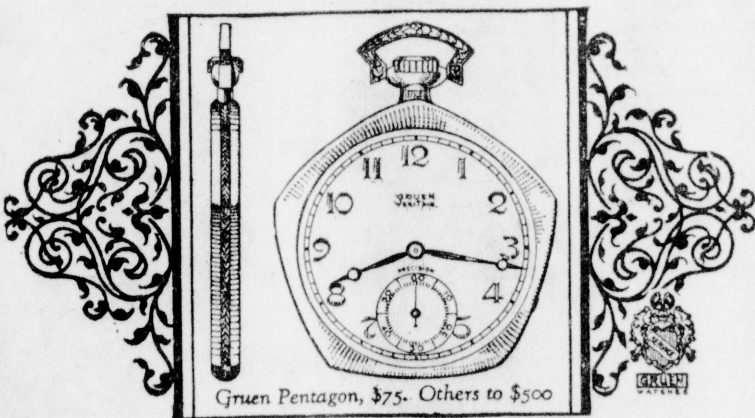

Those participating besides the honoree and her daughter, Mrs. O. L. Parker, were Mesdames G. E. Peters, Dixie Weekly, Nancy J. Austin, Belle Alderman, Helene Galbraith, Beatrice Hossler, H. F. Towner, Dora Spangler, E. R. Curtis, Margaret Culver, Margaret Erickson, Docia Jasper, Laura Moyer, Mary Callaghan, Sommerville, Cora Wood, Margaret L. Lee and Eva E. Bemus.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parker of West First street, also entertained at a farewell party for their mother, Mrs. Mary Parker last Saturday night, when the arrangements were kept a surprise.

The evening hours were passed with cards and social conversation and late in the evening rugs were rolled back and a merry time was enjoyed with old-fashioned dancing, with Mrs. L. E. Parker, Lloyd Folger and Miss Irma Williams providing the music with piano and violin. Mrs. Parker designated the affair a "rowdy" party, because the fun was so fast and furious.

Not the least enjoyable was a miscellaneous shower for the traveler, who received everything from handkerchiefs to a Gladstone bag. Before the guests took their departure they were served with ice cream and cake, those present including host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parker, the honoree, Mrs. Mary Parker, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. George Alley and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hone, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Moberly, of Orange; Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parker, Miss Irma Williams and Lloyd Folger, of Orange, and the children, Miles, Ralph and Virgil Hone, Nadine and Verne Parker and Raymond and Neil Parker.

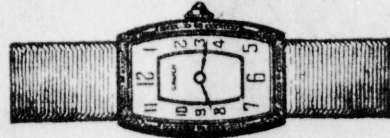

school above the seventh grade is eligible and it is not necessary that she be a member of a Girl Reserve club. This is a splendid opportunity for girls to have an inexpensive vacation in the mountains that will be profitable and most enjoyable.

Why we feature Gruen Watches

Machines will make almost anything—except a fine watch! The finest machines, of course, are used in making watches, but they have to be carefully directed by skillful craftsmen. And to make a really good watch, there must be a great deal of expert hand finishing and adjustment. That is what you will find in our Gruens—the highest type of mechanical precision and watchmaking skill. We are always happy to have you see them and learn of the features which distinguish our Gruen Watches.

County Treasurer

I want to be responsible for the county's cash for the four years starting with Jan. 1, 1927. I do not claim qualifications superior to my opponents, I was born in California and have been a resident of Orange county for 43 years. For 37 years I have been a consistent booster for the county in the capacity of a newspaperman. I have given of my time, my energy and my money to the up-building of the community. I ask support of the voters strictly on my record. I will give my full time to discharge of the duties involved in the position.

MORE THAN TWENTY YEARS EXPERIENCE

RETURN OF EARLY STANDARDS IN AMERICAN HOME CITED AS SOLUTION OF YOUTH PROBLEM

Voicing an eloquent plea for a return to earlier standards for the American home, the Rev. Thomas Grice, pastor of the South Pasadena Methodist Episcopal church, yesterday held the close attention of Kiwanis club members and their wives and guests at the weekly meeting in St. Ann's Inn.

There was no special program in honor of the feminine guests, who thus were given a glimpse of one of the usual meetings of the service club, an experience which was greatly enjoyed. Very little business was transacted beyond the call of the president, W. V. Whitson, for the election of a new director to fill the place left vacant by John Estes since the latter's departure for San Francisco. H. G. Nelson was elected.

Also it was voted to join other Kiwanis clubs of the district in acceptance of the invitation of the Belmont Beach club to a box supper and dancing party on the night of August 6.

Harpist Opens Program
Miss Ruth Helen Oakes, talented harpist of the city, opened the program with two numbers, "Josephine," an exquisitely dainty composition by Navone, and, as an encore number, an arrangement of "Annie Laurie," by her former teacher, Van Vechten Rogers of Providence, R. I.

The Rev. Mr. Grice then was introduced by the club's ministerial member, the Rev. W. L. H. Benton, pastor of the church of the Messiah. Going back to the stirring events of July 4, 1776 and the informal account of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, written by John Adams to his wife, the Rev. Mr. Grice said that, in that declaration, the nation definitely was committed to God and ended with the searching question, "What have we built in the 150 years of American history?"

He cited the nation's wealth, stating that in that time, the center of gold ownership had changed and that today America's wealth placed her as leader in the financial world. The old fable of Midas was recalled and the touch that turned everything to gold, a danger which confronts America, her generosity being the only saving grace.

Deeper Than Personal
"That generosity goes deeper than the merely personal, it is a national characteristic," asserted the speaker. "As a country, we set Cuba free; we accepted the responsibility of Porto Rico; we paid Spain $20,000,000 for the Philippines instead of demanding indemnity; we paid indemnity to China after the Boxer rebellion, and the country's stand in regard to world war debts is too well known to repeat."

"Yet, with all this wealth, with all this generosity, with all the idealism which characterizes American and Americans, we are not happy. Shall I give you proof of that national despondency? It is in the prevalence of the so-called 'blues' in our songs. Everywhere one hears some variation of the 'blues' being sung. It is an indication of the unhappiness which pervades our country. And the reason for it is our children—or to put it in different form—our home life."

"There is something the matter, when a conference, called by State Superintendent Sherwood of Illinois, to consider conditions governing the situation among children, attracts 500 prominent educators and parents instead of the 150 expected."

Not Very Good Job
"At this conference it was pointed out that the state was spending millions to educate the children, but that it was not a very good job. An appeal was made to the churches for aid. President Coolidge recently said, 'The future of America is in the hands of the children of today—let us strengthen the moral forces of the nation.'"

"The trouble is that parents are afraid of their children, they dread the ridicule of their boys and girls—and the children know it. Family discipline is a thing of the past and it is the parental disability to control their children that is responsible for the crime wave among youth, rather than pernicious movies, dance halls, petting parties and other factors that have been cited."

"I would not make an incident of childhood, but an indictment of parenthood. There never was a finer youth than that of today. It is the nation's finest crop, but it has gotten away from us. To quote Edward Guest: 'Which does the most of your time employ? The chase for gold, or that noble boy?'"

"The solution lies in the home and I would leave you with an optimistic thought again regarding the songs of the nation. The finest songs written by Americans in the last hundred years have been about home. When we return to the earlier standards of the home, our youth will be saved."

"Everything to eat." We'd like your trade. Anderson's, 115 E. 4th St.

IN RACE AGAIN

George Jeffrey

Supervisor George Jeffrey, of the fifth district, has announced his candidacy for re-election to the board of county supervisors. Jeffrey will wage his campaign on his record, made as supervisor during the last three and one-half years. "My policy always has been, to treat each precinct in the district with absolute fairness in disbursing county funds," said Jeffrey today, "and I shall adhere to this rule if re-elected." Jeffrey has been a resident of Orange county since 1898. He is recognized as one of county's leading ranchers, is an experienced road builder and successful business man. These qualifications have enabled him to capably fill the office of supervisor.

2 DAYS REMAIN IN WHICH TO REGISTER

The grand rush for the registration books in Orange county is nearing a close, with the registration clerks over the county being hard pressed to keep up with the wave, according to County Clerk J. M. Backs.

Demands for more books are coming into the courthouse from all parts of the county. Saturday is the last day. Persons who don't get under the wire with their party affiliations will not be allowed to vote on partisan offices. If party is not designated, but the voter is registered, he will be entitled to cast a ballot only on the non-partisan offices.

But if the voter isn't registered at all, he can't vote. "Register now and avoid the rush," Backs pleaded.

ACCIDENT VICTIM BATTLES FOR LIFE

Neil Granger, of Orange, Harvard university student, injured in a collision with a truck near Vacaville Tuesday night, still was battling for his life in the Sutter hospital, Sacramento, according to word received here today.

His companion in the accident, Herbert M. Hamilton, of Santa Monica, was reported out of danger.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Granger, parents of the Orange youth, arrived at Sacramento last night by airplane to be with their son, whose injuries include the loss of sight in his right eye, a fractured hip and severe cuts and bruises.

The victim still is unconscious from brain concussion.

Company to Make Storage Charges

Charges hereafter will be assessed for storing of express shipments not accepted when tendered for delivery or uncalled for after due notice has been sent to the consignee, according to James T. Carter, Santa Ana agent of the American Railway Express company.

Thus, Carter explained, a system similar to that affecting freight and baggage shipments has been put into effect in the express service in the cities and in the districts where free delivery service is provided.

This has been made necessary, the agent declared, by the growing problems of the carriers in caring for an increasing quantity of shipments which they have not been able to deliver for reasons for which they are in no wise responsible.

400 Are Present At Short Outing

Four hundred employees of the Easy Housekeeping shop, Inc., which has a branch at 313 W. Fourth street, Santa Ana, held a beach outing Saturday, making their headquarters on the La Monica pier, Santa Monica.

From 2 o'clock until midnight there were all the joys of the seashore and races, games and various athletic contests on the sand just north of the municipal pier. The corporation served supper to employees and their families at 5:30 p. m.

Arrangements for the outing were in charge here of Arthur F. Giroux and G. W. McLean, the latter being manager of the Santa Monica branch.

IDEAS and Ideals

Faced with a prospective water shortage and with 125,000 tillable acres undeveloped and susceptible to gravity irrigation, the people of Nevada county, California, last year voted bonds in the amount of $7,250,000 to construct a dam at the outlet of Lake Bowman. The construction work, which is now well under way, is employing 1400 men and will keep them busy nearly two years.

The Bowman dam is regarded by power and irrigation engineers as one of the most important and most spectacular undertakings of the kind that has been observed in the state. Not satisfied with backing up water in a huge reservoir in Lake Bowman, the engineers on the job have started boring a great tunnel through the ridge of a mountain, in order to tap a second lake of important proportions.

The great rock fill dam at the outlet of Lake Bowman, will be 290 feet high. The lake is located in a broad, deep canyon. When the dam is completed, a reservoir will be formed three miles wide, eight miles long and approximately 300 feet deep.

The information regarding this Bowman dam project will be of interest to Orange county people, who are looking forward to some action in the matter of the proposed check dam at Prado, near the upper end of the Santa Ana canyon. Some doubt has been expressed locally that the Prado dam project will meet with the approval of the state engineer's office. It was stated by one of the Bowman dam engineers that his project was held to be impractical. It was undertaken primarily more than six years ago. To make the project financially feasible, the power feature was considered and after two and a half years of negotiations, an agreement was concluded with the Pacific Gas and Electric company, whereby the company takes the water from the project and runs it through several power houses and then forwards the water into the irrigation ditches or reservoir. The money from this rental will approximately take care of the interest and sinking fund.

The cases of the Bowman dam and the proposed Prado dam are far from parallel. The Bowman dam is being constructed with the main object the opening up of new tillable lands for agricultural developments. The opening of this new land is expected to direct much attention to Nevada county and create a general lively activity in real estate.

The Orange county project is primarily a precautionary measure, to check the valuable water that is being wasted into the sea and replenish the ground water supply.

There appears to be no possibility of developing any water power in the Prado project, because the volume of water passing will be insufficient and more or less irregular. The local undertaking will be a matter of putting up the money and taking care of the interest and sinking fund, the principal reward being the security of the irrigated acreage now developed.

The thought presents itself that if it is going to take five or six years to fight the Prado dam project through to the point where the people can vote on a bond issue, as seems to have been the case in the Bowman project, perhaps it is not too early for Orange county to start some preliminary action.

CITIZENS OF HANSEN SEEK POST OFFICE NAME CHANGE

Installation of Modern Water System Aids in Development of Town

PROPERTY VALUES FOUND ON INCREASE

Establishment of Acre Chicken Ranches Brings Many New Residents

Until recently, Hansen was little more than a railroad crossing sign and a couple of houses. During the past year, it has doubled in population, a water system costing more than $6000 has been installed, gas and electricity have been installed, a store is being constructed and the town is making efforts to change its name and also to secure a post office.

The development of the community started about a year ago, when Vincent K. Chandler and D. A. Woodward opened a subdivision, one-acre chicken ranches. During the past year, more than a dozen new homes have been built.

The improvements in the community, including new homes, a new store and a water system have amounted to about $70,000, according to reports.

The water system is a community affair. It was started by Chandler and Woodward. The two men subdivided 20 acres of land into acre tracts. Each acre was allotted a certain amount of water when the property was purchased.

Hansen, according to the residents, is ready for a quick growth. With the rapid development of the past year, the property owners in the district declare that they are bound to prosper. The town is situated on the Santa Ana-Los Angeles Pacific Electric line, is 10 miles from Santa Ana, 25 miles from Los Angeles, and only a short distance from the beach towns.

There are now more than 200 people in the community. Work was being completed this week on the first store which the town has ever boasted. The store is to be located on the Chandler-Woodward tract. The cost will amount to several thousand dollars. Families in the town have been compelled in the past to go to Buena Park, Stanton, Cypress or Anaheim for supplies.

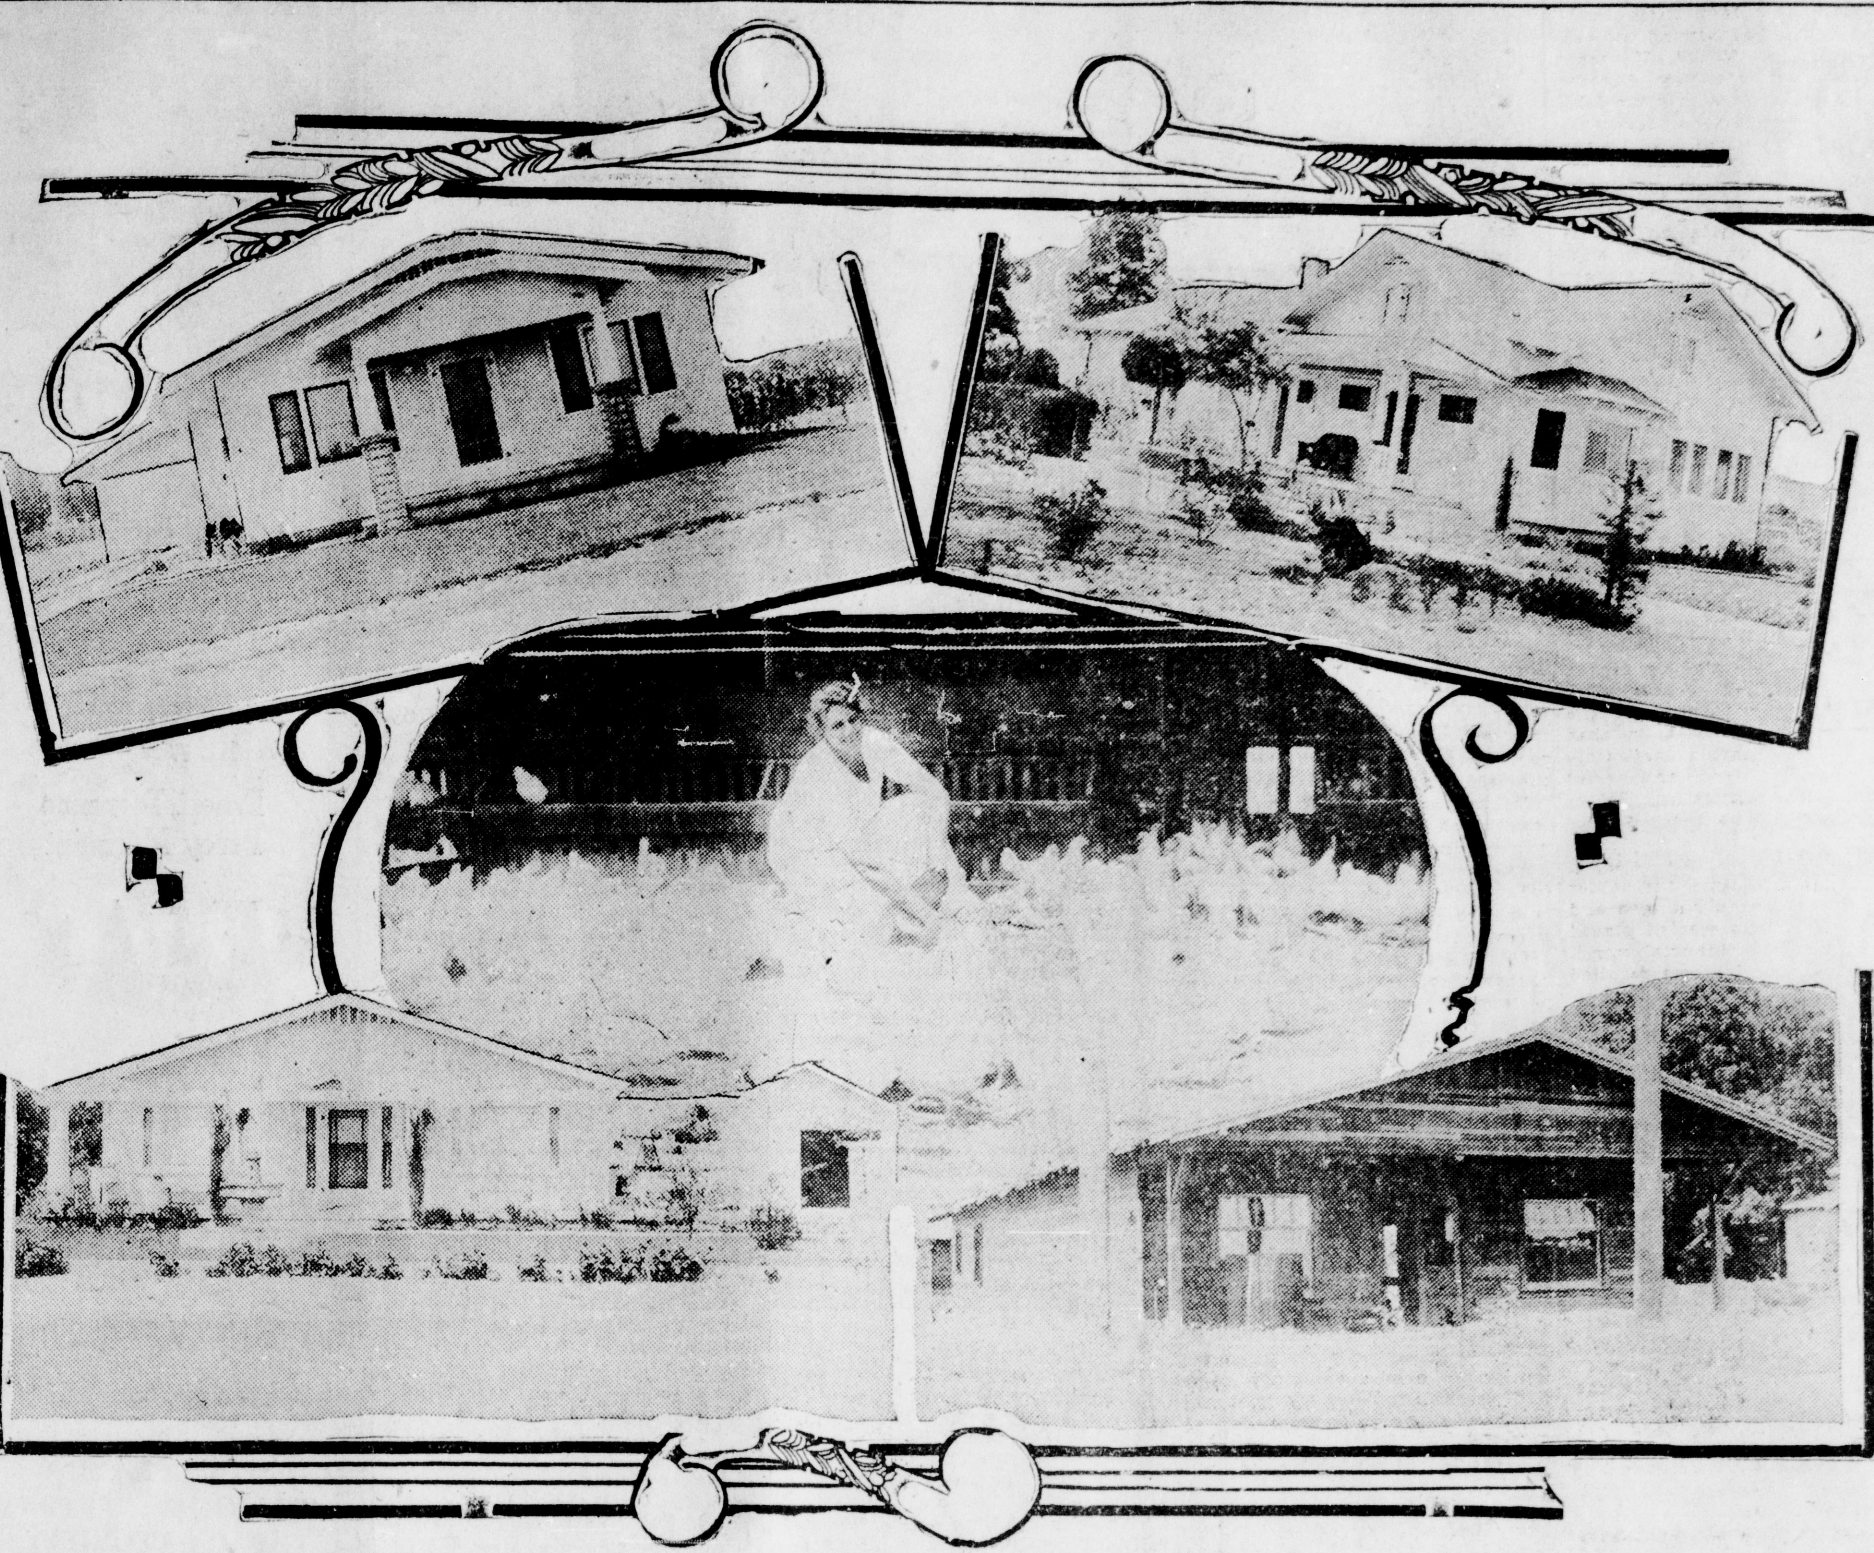

Among other things that have resulted from the rapid growth of the community is the demand for a change in the name of the town. People declare that they wish the town to be called Savannah. They point out that the name of Hansen is not distinctive enough and also contend that Hansen is not even "on the map." With a change in name, the residents of the district plan to petition for a post office. The town now receives its mail from Anaheim. It is understood that a petition has already been circulated to change the name of the town from Hansen to Savannah.

The name Savannah has been suggested by local people because the school in the district is known as the Savannah school.

Property values in Hansen have increased rapidly during the past year. Property that was selling for $800 to $900 an acre a year ago is today commanding a price of from $1000 to $1500.

Ranchers are very successful in gardening and although the soil is sandy, vegetables and flowers grow in profusion.

NUMEROUS ATTRACTIVE HOMES STAMP HANSEN AS PROGRESSIVE COMMUNITY; ABUNDANCE OF GOOD WATER BRINGS MANY NEW RESIDENTS TO DISTRICT

New homes and chicken ranches are features of the fast growing community of Hansen. Here are shown a number of scenes from the Hansen district. Upper left, Home of Mr. and Mrs. William Illingsworth, a typical home on the Chandler-Woodward tract; upper right, home of D. A. Woodward, prominent subdivider of the district; center, Mrs. William Illingsworth and some of her prize chickens; lower left, home of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Wonderly; lower right, new store building now being erected by Mrs. Anna Chandler. It is the first store in Hansen and will be operated by H. Kitchen, of Anaheim.

SANTA ANA MAN BUYS FIVE LOTS IN ORANGE; RANCH BRINGS $42,500

With the sale of the J. J. Collins ranch, 1145 East Chapman avenue, Orange, to John O. King, a former Florida resident, activity in real estate on East Chapman avenue is scheduled to assume sizeable proportions, according to real estate dealers in Orange. The reported price paid for the Collins tract was $42,500. The tract is composed of six acres of Valencia oranges with a two-story dwelling.

Another sale of considerable note is that of 10 lots on East Chapman avenue, valued at $22,000, to Roy Y. Work, Long Beach contractor. The former L. D. Palmer property, said to have been owned by Work, is reported to have been involved in the deal.

Other Chapman avenue buyers include G. W. Young, member of the Van Dien-Young company, Santa Ana, purchaser of five lots on Century drive; the Ehlen and

TWO HOMES IN SANTA ANA TO COST $10,500

Ten thousand five hundred dollars will be expended by Honer, Herzog and Farney, local builders, in the erection of two residences and a like number of garages at 1436 North Baker street and 2415 French street, respectively. The dwellings will have six rooms each. Stucco material will be used. A two-family flat to cost $7500 will be built at 401-3 East Myrtle street by Helen Whitmore, of 129 North Flower street, who has awarded the contract to E. A. Scharn.

A seven-room dwelling to require the expenditure of $6000 will be constructed at 228 Wakeham place

BUILDERS' QUERIES ANSWERED

By Southern California Chapter, Associated General Contractors of America

Q. Will you please advise me if wood shingles are satisfactory for roofing in Southern California? I have been advised they are not as satisfactory in this climate as in eastern states.

A. Wood shingles, if properly applied and painted, will give entirely satisfactory results. The roof should be painted frequently for the best results.

Q. Will you please tell me how much more plate window glass will cost than the ordinary double strength glass?

A. We are advised that plate window glass will cost about three times as much as double strength window glass. Double strength glass for a window will cost approximately 40 cents per square foot and plate glass will average about $1.20 per square foot in cost.

Q. Will you please advise me the most practical distance apart to place upright studs in the construction of a one-story dwelling?

A. Upright studs should be placed not more than 16 inches apart. It is common practice, however, in the construction of many of the smaller homes, to place studs on a 24-inch center. This spacing is not recommended for several reasons.

Q. Will you please advise if 10-inch lumber will be satisfactory for sheathing a one-story residence that will be finished with stucco?

A. We would suggest that sheathing not less than six inches nor more than eight inches in width be used in preference to 10-inch lumber. Sheathing should be dressed on one side to a uniform thickness of 13-16th of an inch and nailed on with eight penny nails.

Q. Will you please advise me the maximum pitch that can be used on a roof covered with tar, felt and gravel?

A. Tar, felt and gravel roofs should have a pitch not to exceed three inches to the foot. This class of roofing is often applied very flat, in many instances with as little pitch as one-half inch to the foot, but seldom does the pitch exceed three inches.

Q. Large cracks have appeared in the outside walls of my home which is of plaster finish. Can they be repaired so that when it rains the water will not run down the cracks, leaving a streak in the plaster?

A. The entire surface of the walls should be given a coat of stucco, provided, however, that the exterior surface is hard and in good condition, with exception of the cracks. The stucco will close the cracks, make the house look like new and at the same time eliminate the water streaks.

RESIDENTIAL BUILDING IN S. A. ATTESTS PROSPERITY

Numerous New Dwellings Being Built Indicative Of Substantial Growth

CALIFORNIA NOT IN FAVOR OF BOOMS

Slow and Steady Increase In Values Preferred by Orange County Residents

By NEIL STANLEY

With the Florida boom apparently shattered, California and particularly the southern portion of the state, is once more occupying the attention of people the country over.

That Santa Ana will benefit from the large influx of capital, which is sure to come to California this fall, is an assured fact, according to bankers and business men generally.

Property values in Orange county, compared with the prices at which Florida property has been selling, are exceptionally low and those who have had experience with Florida prices are quick to realize this fact.

While increased activity may be expected in the fall, the possibility of a boom is exceedingly remote, for the simple reason that Californians know from experience that booms do not pay. While a slow and steady growth may pall on those who like to see prices skyrocket overnight, the majority of realtors and others closely associated with real estate favors a more conservative advancement in values.

Concrete evidence that this city is enjoying a steady growth may be seen from the fact that construction of residential structures continues unabated.

The building inspector's office has been bustling with activity all summer and this week, so far as residential permits is concerned, has developed into one of the best in some time. And the houses that are being erected here are not of the cheap variety, either, most of the permits running around $4000 and $5000 in valuation, which would rather indicate that there is a demand for good homes in Santa Ana.

Visitors are struck by the large amount of residential construction going on here, for it is general knowledge that building is somewhat slack in many communities.

According to authorities, building permits furnish definite evidence of a city's growth or lack of growth. For this reason, it is a known fact that, before any of the concerns operating on a nation-wide scale go into a city, a careful investigation is made as to the amount of building being done, as well as the type of structures going up. In this respect, Santa Ana stands among the leading cities in the Southland, for Santa Ana is primarily a home city.

KILLED ON FATHER'S LAP
NEW ORLEANS, July 29.—Louis Timpony, 11, was killed when struck by lightning here while seated on his father's lap near an open door of their home. Vincent Timpony, the father, and four other men, within a short distance of the boy, were not injured.

Women Play Golf Without Talking!

HASTINGS, Neb., July 29.—Fifteen Hastings women golfers believe they have set at rest for all time their husbands' accusation of undue loquacity. These women played nine holes without saying a word. It was agreed at the start that they could talk only on the fairways, with conversation on the greens and tees to be penalized one stroke. The women played airtight, however, and not a word was spoken even on the fairways. Now they say the men have something to shoot at.

Talking Oracle To Open At Playhouse Here Next Sunday

The famed theatrical "Talking Mummy" valued at more than $100,000, will be at the West Coast-Walker theater here for one week, starting Sunday matinee. This is one of the most expensive attractions ever at the local playhouse, according to Manager C. E. Walker. The mysterious mummy which answers questions pertaining to virtually every subject has attracted wide attention during its tour of Pacific coast theaters and thousands of theatergoers are expected to consult the "oracle" during its engagement here.

"It is a known fact," says the publicity man for the "Talking Mummy," "that 75 per cent of the people are in their wrong vocation; 65 per cent of the men and men fall in business from lack of adaptation or because they are united wrongly in partnership; 50 per cent are misnamed with divorce as the result; 99 per cent are like ships without rudders, not understanding themselves."

The mummy went on display yesterday at Van Antwerp's (formerly Spicer's) store on the corner of Fourth and Sycamore streets. Here it will remain for three days before being delivered to the West Coast-Walker theater, Saturday at noon.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

Heading the vaudeville bill at the Yost Broadway theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday are Mary Kornman and Mickey Daniels, two of the "Our Gang" comedy kids, in person.

Another headline act is "Personalities," which was the hit of the bill at the Junior Orpheum last week. The act as a whole is a splendid exposition of song, dance and music, very interesting throughout and most creditably presented from an entertaining standpoint.

Eddie Foyer is not only a humorist of the first water, but a perfect Galcon of literature. He has mastered the best efforts of the standard poets of the world, past and contemporary so thoroughly that he permits the audience to call for any standard reading or poem and delivers the same immediately without the aid of plants or promoters. He is the only man in the history of the theater who has attempted this.

Expected to introduce many diverting innovations, Walter Baker and company, will show that magic does not have to be taken seriously. Baker will cause his auditors to laugh at his absurdities and at the same time to marvel at his necromancy.

"Mantrap," a picture featuring Ernest Torrence, Clara Bow and Percy Marmont opens on the Yost Broadway screen tonight.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Heading the vaudeville bill which closes at the West Coast-Walker theater tonight are: Bert and Bertie in an acrobatic novelty. They are a man and girl doing head to head, hand, and pole balancing that will thrill you with their daring. Miss Bertie is a girl of beauty and will show you the result of keeping fit.

Netty Perry's three dancing tots are two dusky boys and a dusky girl who present one of the finest dancing acts that has ever appeared in Santa Ana. They do clog and soft shoe dancing as well as acrobatic that is perfect.

Lewis and La Varre, a comedian and a girl, present an act which has traveled the largest circuits throughout the world and has never failed to make a hit wherever it has shown.

Balzer Taylor and Perneau offer the art of terpsichore. They are real artists and entertain in classical toe, soft shoe and acrobatic dancing.

"The Night Patrol," a picture in which Richard Talmadge, Gladys Hulette, Mary Carr and Grace Darmond are featured, will be shown on the West Coast-Walker screen tonight.

YOST THEATER

Blanche Sweet heads the cast of "The Far Cry," the current attraction at the Yost theater. Other featured players are Myrtle Stedman, Jack Mulhall and Hobart Bosworth.

"The Far Cry" is a film adaptation of the Arthur Richman stage hit. Katherine Kavanaugh wrote the scenario. The photodrama concerns an American mother who has become Europeanized and her Europeanized daughter who is weaned back to American ideals through the love of an American artist. Miss Sweet is cast as the daughter.

Balboni, the young Italian screen marvel, directed. His intimate knowledge of life on the Continent is said to be responsible for the expert direction noted in the picture.

A Bed-time Story

BED bugs need not wreck your sleep if you use Flit.

Flit spray destroys bed bugs, roaches and ants. It searches out the cracks and crevices where they hide and breed, and destroys insects and their eggs.

Kills All Household Insects

Flit spray also clears your home in a few minutes of disease-bearing flies and mosquitoes. It is clean, safe and easy to use. Spray Flit on your garments. Flit kills moths and their larvae which eat holes. Extensive tests showed that Flit spray did not stain the most delicate fabrics.

A Scientific Insecticide

Flit is the result of exhaustive research by expert entomologists and chemists. It is harmless to mankind. Flit has replaced the old methods because it kills all the insects—and does it quickly.

COAST YACHTING REGATTA TO OPEN SUNDAY

BILLY EVANS
Says

REDS FIND BATTING PUNCH
For several years the pitching staff of the Cincinnati Reds has been pointed out as the best in the majors, the big reason for the club being troublemakers.

Now, good pitchers are not supposed to cut any figure at the bat, but the National league averages reveal the fact that the members of the Cincinnati staff can help their pitching with a base hit punch.

Four of the Reds' pitching staff, Donahue, Luque, Rixey and Lucas boast better than .300 batting averages.

Until this year, the Cincinnati team has been regarded by the experts as a pretty good defensive club, plus great pitching but lacking a batting punch.

Yet, during the greater part of the present season the Reds have topped the National league in batting. Without a doubt the fact that four of the pitchers have hit better than .300 has had much to do with it.

Incidentally, Pitcher Lucas has starred in the role of pinch batter aside from performing capably on the rubber.

TRIS SPEAKER BELOW .300
For the second time in his major league career Tris Speaker faces the prospect of falling below the .300 mark.

Away to a bad start this spring, which eventually led to Speaker taking himself out of the lineup in an effort to break the slump, he has worked under a serious handicap.

Of late he has been hitting the ball in old-time style and has gradually fattened his mark until he is now flirting with the charmed .300. Tris says he will be there by the middle of August.

In 1919, his fourth season with Cleveland, he was just three hits shy of the .300 mark, his average being .296. That is the only season he has been out of the select circle, his average for 19 years in the majors being the remarkable total of .352.

LEE FOUNTAIN TEAM DEFEATS TIERNANS, 8-4

Settling down after an unsteady get-away, Jimmy Mansfield fast-balled the Tiernan Kids to death at Lincoln park last night and Lee's Fountain came from behind to win for him, 8 to 4, and enter the play-off with the Fluor Construction company for the privilege of meeting the champion Blauer Grocers in an exhibition game next week.

Mansfield was rocked for four runs and four hits in the first three innings but he was invincible in the last six cantos, allowing only three scattered singles and fanning nine of the frantic Kids. He whiffed 13 altogether, setting four in the first three rounds.

Gene Hitt, the Tiernans' moundsman, was hit hard and often during his five-inning term in the box and his successor, little "Memphis" Hill didn't fool the Lee's very much either. Both of the Kid choppers were inclined to be wild and that didn't help their cause much.

Two Double Plays Made
Two double plays enlivened proceedings, Ray Smith turning in an unassisted one for the Tiernans and Jones and Norton forming a partnership for the other twin killing.

The Tiernans scored twice in the first without the assistance of a hit. Romo walked and was forced by Smith who went to third on passed balls and scored when Hill grounded to Mansfield and the latter's throw home was too late. Hill took second on this play and scored on a passed ball and a wild pitch.

The Kids gathered their other counters in the third after two were away. Romo hit safely, stole second and scored on Smith's single to right. Smith got to second the throw-in, took third on a wild pitch and scored on L. Daley's error on Hill's grounder.

Score Two in First
Lee's Fountain made one in the opener after two were down. Ed Daley singled to right and made the rounds on a wild pitch and errors by Hitt and Holmes.

L. Daley's single, a pass to Jones, Ed Daley's hit and an error by Preble gave the Soda-Jerkers two more in the third and hits by L. Daley, Nelson and Allender and an error by Hitt accounted for three others in the fifth.

The Fountainers got their final runs off Hill in the seventh. Singles by Roundtree and L. Daley, an error by Romo and a couple of fielder's choices figured in the rally.

COUNTY LEAGUE LEADERS BATTLE TOMORROW

The championship of the Orange County Indoor Baseball association probably will be definitely settled tomorrow night when the Orange All-Stars and the Santa Ana American Legion tied for first place with eight victories as against one defeat, clash at Lincoln park here. The league still has several weeks to run but this will be the last hard game for the locals.

The Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce aggregation travels to Orange tomorrow evening to meet Olive. The Chamberites are in

EDDIE MOORE

In the world series last fall Eddie Moore stood out as one of the bright lights. It was his homer into the stands in the sixth game that enabled the McKenchie forces to not only win that specific tilt but to tie the get-together at three.

Now—only a few months later, Moore is sent to the lowly Boston Braves via the waiver route. Fame, you say—ah, what a fickle old chap!

KOTSONAROS LOSES TO RENATO GARDINI

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—A combination punching, ear-twisting, nose-grinding and wrestling act, finished off with an oratorical effort on the part of one of the bone twisters, entertained 7500 fans at the Olympic auditorium last night.

It was billed as a wrestling match between Renato Gardini, Italian, and George Kotsonaros, a Greek. Gardini won the one fall event after one hour, 14 minutes and 15 seconds of struggling in which even the referee at times participated.

Solly Mishkin, Grid Star, May Be Lost to Oxy

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—Occidental college may lose the services this fall of their star half-back of last year's championship football team as a result of Solly Mishkin's attempt to spend his vacation in a Grange.

Mishkin dropped a 300-pound cake of ice on his foot, breaking three bones.

Huffman to Meet Carp at Tijuana

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 29.—George Carpenter-Eddie Huffman match is on again. The two will settle a draw decision handed them in New York, at Tijuana Sunday, September 5, according to promoter Jim Crofton.

Crofton received word today from Huffman stating that the hand which he hurt during his fight with Tiger Flowers, is almost well again and that he will be able to go into training within a week.

Morgan, O'Brien Box Wednesday

LOS ANGELES, July 29.—Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion of the world, who is here to battle Tommy O'Brien in the anniversary show feature of the Olympic auditorium next Wednesday night, is firmly established in the east as one of the outstanding champions of the present day.

Morgan was hailed by leading New York boxing critics after his conquest of Steve "Kid" Sullivan several months ago, as a real champion. The Vallejo boy won his crown by knocking out Mike Ballerino.

third place, two games behind Orange and the American Legion. Lincoln park will be dark tonight no game of any kind being scheduled.

DEMPSEY SAYS PUNCH, HEART DECIDE BOUTS

BY HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Editor) (Copyright 1926, by United Press)

NEW YORK, July 29.—It's the fighting heart—and the punch in both hands—that will win the fight between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, in the opinion of the big champion.

Talking back and forth over the wires with the writer, Jack set this down as his answer to "what will be the determining factor in the battle set for September 16 in New York City?"

"And are both of the old mits working as they used to?" we asked him.

"They are," the champion replied. "While I consider myself an 'A number one' boxer," he explained, "I do not believe this is a deciding factor in a championship contest such as we are about to face."

"The principal factors of any heavyweight fight are durability, a punch in both hands and a fighting heart. My past record proves I have all of these."

"And how about your condition after the long layoff?" we asked him.

"I can say absolutely," he responded, "that I am in the best condition I have been in five years."

"When do you leave and what are your training plans?" was the next question.

"I will arrive in New York August 3 and spend a few days there. Then I will go directly to my training camp at Saratoga Springs. Captain Mabson and Floyd Fitzsimmons have arranged for all my training partners."

In response to further inquiry regarding whether Tunney was the man most entitled to the go, Dempsey replied:

"I consider Tunney the logical contender—and if he gets in good condition I promise the fans an interesting fight."

"How about the wife? Will she be here for the fight?"

"Mrs. Dempsey will be my companion at the camp until August 20," he replied, "after which she will have to leave because she must be in Hollywood to take up her new film contract which will be occupying her time when the fight is held."

The champion did not say what weight he expected to make for the fight. He now tips something over 200 pounds.

(Henry L. Farrell, sports editor of the United Press, is here for the first of two interviews—one with Dempsey and the other with Gene Tunney—wherein the fighters, now matched for a world's championship fight September 16 in New York City, set forth what they believe will be the deciding factor in their bout.)

Rain Storm Stops Maidstone Meet

MAIDSTONE TENNIS CLUB, EAST HAMPTON, N. Y., July 29.—Rain caused a postponement of the morning matches in the Maidstone tournament in which Miss Helen Wills, national tennis champion, is making her return to the courts following her operation in Paris.

Officials of the tournament said play would start at 3 o'clock this afternoon if the weather cleared.

TENNIS 'FIND'

WARREN COEN

This 14-year-old boy is being heralded as the tennis "find" of the season. Though he's only been swinging a racquet a comparatively short time, he has impressed various critics that have seen him in action. Warren recently got into the headlines by playing two sets with Champion Bill Tilden, incidentally making a splendid showing. He lives in Kansas City.

Tony Loses 24 Pounds To Make Good

NEW YORK, July 29.—It is costing Tony Lazzari a lot of his avoirdupois to stand out as the best looking rookie of the year in major league circles.

When Tony reported to the Yankees at St. Petersburg, Fla., on March 1 he weighed exactly 179 pounds and looked fit.

Five months since the training season opened, with the campaign half over, Lazzari now tips the beam at 155. He has shed just 24 pounds in winning his big league spurs.

TEDDY SILVA HURT, OFF STADIUM CARD

HOLLYWOOD, July 29.—Hollywood fight fans have indicated in the past a decided taste for the little fellows and they should find the bill at the Hollywood American Legion show tomorrow a night of a very satisfactory variety.

An injury to Teddy Silva's eye necessitated a change in the main event, which no doubt was a keen disappointment to followers of the little Portuguese. However, a most satisfactory substitution was made and Delos Kid Williams will meet Corporal Izzy Schwartz, the New York bantam.

BABE PINELLI FINED

NEW YORK, July 29.—Babe Pinelli, third baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, today drew a $100 fine, and Art Devlin, coach of the Boston Nationals, was suspended from the coaching line for one month as a result of a run-in the two had during last Sunday's game.

CAMP STOVES

(August 1, Deer Season Opens Districts 2, 2 1/2 3)

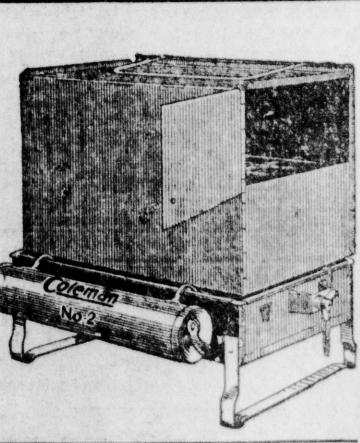

Do you know there were more than 5,000,000 camp stoves sold in the United States last year? Not many campers today favor the open camp fire with its smoking bed of ashes—a menace to forests and wild life.

We have just the stove you need to provide good eats and do it quickly on any kind of a camping trip. Priced from $5.50 to $14.00.

JACK DELANEY BEAT JINX TO BECOME CHAMP

NEW YORK, July 29. (U. P.)—Jack Delaney is the light-heavyweight champion of the world and the most perfect fighting machine of his weight that ever lived because he had faith in himself and found a friend who believed in him.

Bob Fitzsimmons was a more spectacular fighter and his world's heavyweight championship is more than Delaney has achieved so far in his up-and-down career, but even the fondest admirers of Fitzsimmons will not deny that the present light-heavyweight champion is a more perfect all-around fighter.

No fighter that ever lived had more courage than Delaney and more faith in himself. There were the Nelsons, the Jeffries and those who knew no fear in the ring, but there are none to compare with Delaney for the courage he exhibited in overcoming misfortunes that would have wrecked the patience and determination of a weaker hearted.

Jack Delaney would be on the refuse heap of pugilism today and probably would be drawing his weekly pay envelope as a mechanic if he didn't believe that luck would turn some time and if he didn't have back of him, Pete Reilly, a friend who believed as he believed.

Three years ago, Reilly bought Delaney's contract for $500 from a manager who was convinced that the boxer was through and who figured he was getting a fancy price for a contract that meant little to him.

Today Delaney is probably worth $250,000, and Reilly's share of the firm's profits must have been at least $100,000 and they are just now in the big money.

Delaney had a right hand that would crumble against the body of an insect when Reilly took charge of his business affairs. He put Delaney under the care of the most skilled surgeon in New York, Dr. Fraulich, and a miracle of surgery was performed.

The surgeon straightened out the bones in the bad right hand and built a new third joint knuckle on the second finger which has held up under the heaviest pressure.

This great turn in fortune was followed by more hard luck.

Just after he had surprised the boxing world and elevated himself to a commanding position in his class by knocking out Paul Berlenbach, Delaney picked a little pile on his arm and blood poisoning developed. He escaped without an amputation but he nearly lost his life when the poison spread through his system.

Gave 'Berly' Return Bout
Doctors told him that it would be at least a year before he would recover his vitality but he fought himself back into condition and courageously granted Berlenbach a return bout.

He trained himself into good condition but a week before the fight he cut a deep gash under his knee while chopping wood. Instead of asking for a postponement he tried to keep the accident a secret and went into the fight practically on one leg. He lost the decision to Berlenbach but many thought should have been a draw.

He asked for a return bout and Berlenbach, who is one of the few real first class fighters, returned the favor by giving him a chance at the title and Delaney won the championship by a margin so wide that no one could question it.

Even Berlenbach, the defeated, said after Delaney's arm had been raised by the referee—"You won, Jack, Good luck to you."

Although the jinx that nearly wrecked him for years seems to have been broken, the championship may not bring to Delaney the good fortune that it should.

No Capable Opponents
He will make plenty of money as the light-heavyweight champion but he will not make as much as he would have if there were more good men in the class. Berlenbach made most of his big money by fighting Delaney and Delaney now has no such a drawing card to draw the crowds.

Berlenbach may change his mind and remain in the 175-pound class for a time but this is to be doubted. He can make much more fighting in the heavyweight class where he will not be engaged by com-

NEW SEAL PILOT

NICK WILLIAMS

Former scout for the San Francisco Seals in the Pacific Coast league, who has succeeded Bert Ellison as manager of the same club, Ellison resigned because "there was too much grief" with a tail-end. Williams was at one time pilot of the Logan (Utah) team and is well known in baseball circles, having been associated with the pastime for many years.

Delaney on the other hand, unless the commission takes one of its back-flops, will not be permitted to fight heavyweights and he will not have much fun or profit fighting Mike McTigue, Tommy Loughran or the others that might be classed as challengers.

Delaney's weight, which naturally about 165 pounds, is also against him. He is too heavy for the mid-dleweight class and although he can hold his own as a light-heavyweight he hardly can hope to build himself up to a heavyweight where the real money is. Berlenbach perhaps will grow into a 180 or 185 pounder and may prove a serious contender for the heavy-weight championship.

Fitzsimmons won the heavyweight championship as a light-heavyweight, and Delaney might be able to do the same thing but if he does it will be the result of his courageous heart more than a stout body.

SAN FRANCISCO — Referee Freddie Landers declared Eddie Roberts the winner in the fourth round of a scheduled 10 round bout at National hall when Wildcat O'Brien persisted in making the fight a sprinting-hugging affair.

Many Clubs Participate
Among the clubs to take prominent parts in the regatta will be the Newport Harbor Yacht club, Southland Sailing club, San Diego Yacht club, Catalina Island Yacht club, Santa Barbara Yacht club, California Yacht club of Wilmington, Los Angeles Yacht club, Balboa Yacht and Swimming club, Balboa Island Yacht club, San Francisco Yacht club, and also entries from yacht clubs in Vancouver, B. C., Seattle, and other northern ports.

One of the features of the regatta will be a race for a Thomas Lipton cup. The race is for sloops and will be held over an ocean course. Other races will be held for cruisers, schooners, ketches and yawls on the ocean. Bay races will be held daily for mariners, snowbirds, sea mews, bay sloops, speed boats and hydroplanes.

Prominent among the yachting men who will be present will be B. Ray Shauer, admiral of the Southern California Yachting association; Lester Best of the Los Angeles Harbor Yacht club; William H. Davenport, commodore of the Southland Sailing club, and J. A. Beek, commodore of the Newport Harbor Yacht club.

500 CRAFT TO TAKE PART IN NEWPORT MEET

The most colorful regatta that the Pacific coast has ever seen will open Sunday when for the second time in the past six years Newport bay will be the scene of the Pacific Coast Yachting association's annual regatta. The regatta is the sixth annual affair to be staged by the Pacific Coast Yachting association.

Boats from every yacht club on the coast are expected to gather at the bay. Boats began to arrive in the harbor yesterday, the Windward and the Winnie II of San Diego, owned by J. E. Jessop and E. L. Peterson, respectively, dropping their anchors in the bay. Two other boats were due in the harbor today and two tomorrow. Many more are expected to arrive Saturday.

The Alvern and the Galliano, both from Los Angeles, were scheduled to arrive in Newport bay today, according to J. A. Beek, commodore of the Newport Harbor Yacht club. The craft are owned by V. T. Combs and O. P. Churchill, respectively.

Vagabond Due Tomorrow
The Vagabond, another Los Angeles boat, owned by W. A. Pabst and the Peggy II, owned by D. E. P. Charles-Martin of San Diego, are expected to arrive in the bay tomorrow.

It is probable that more than 500 boats will be guests of the Newport Bay Yachting club during the regatta. Committees to care for every detail have been appointed and will function during the entire week.

The regatta proper will open Sunday and will close Saturday night, August 7, with the tournament of lights in which more than 300 boats are expected to take part.

A program of races never before equalled has been outlined for the entire week, according to yacht club officials. The races will be held both on the ocean and on the bay. Ocean contests will be held under the auspices of the Newport Harbor Yacht club and bay races will be held under the auspices of the Southland Sailing club.

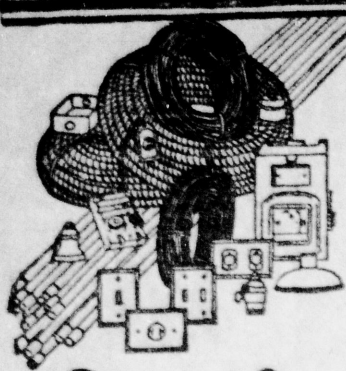

Adding to the life of the regatta will be music which will be played daily by the Santa Ana high school band. The band has been engaged to play on both the bay and ocean during the racing of the various classes of ships.

SANTA ANA HAS OPPORTUNITY OF BEING FAMOUS ROSE CITY BELIEVES NOTED CULTURIST

Santa Ana has the opportunity of becoming world famous as a rose city, according to Dr. Edmund Mills, president emeritus of the American Rose society, who is now residing at 2429 Poinsettia street, this city. Whether Santa Ana achieves this distinction depends upon the citizens, says Dr. Mills, who declares that the soil here is ideal for rose growing. Portland and Seattle are the most famous cities in the west for roses, but they are too damp to really get the best results, while Santa Ana is ideal in every way and should be famous for its roses. Dr. Mills said that he was eager to see a large rose garden in Santa Ana.

Born in Ottawa, Can., July 17, 1848, he early decided to become a Methodist minister and for 34 years he was active in his calling. When a young boy he took care of his mother's rose garden and all his life, except his years in school, Dr. Mills said he had a rose garden. In 1911, while living in Syracuse, N. Y., seven or eight persons under his leadership organized the Syracuse Rose society. It grew from a small organization until at present its membership totals 600. It was the largest in the United States and a few years ago, when Portland's society came into the lead, Syracuse is endowed with a wonderful rose garden now, he said. It was proposed by the society and financed by the city and is known as the Mills Rose Garden.

Likes Santa Ana
Dr. Mills said that when his health became poor about a year ago, he came to California to live, but did not know where he would locate, and spent many months in different parts of the state, trying to find the locality best suited to his desires. He wanted to get away from the large cities and live in a "homey," progressive, pretty town, where he could grow roses to his heart's content. After visiting his sister, Mrs. John J. Zieman, 918 North Symamore street, Santa Ana, he decided that he had found the right place for his future home.

Moving to Santa Ana four months ago, the first thing he did was to plan his rose garden. At present he has 300 bushes and 75 varieties of roses. He feels that nothing else so beautifies a home and town as rose gardens.

Dr. Mills attended the last rose festival in San Jose, which was attended by a quarter of a million people from all over the state. He said that he saw no reason why it could not be held in Santa Ana as well as in San Jose. The majority of people love flowers, he said, and above all, the rose. Poets sing of love, home and many things, but no great poet ever has failed to write something about the rose.

Rose Given Mills' Name
Just before leaving for California, Dr. Mills attended a meeting of the American Rose society, held in Syracuse. As a surprise and honor to him, a beautiful, newly-originated yellow and pink rose was named the Mills rose.

Rose societies in various cities are affiliated with the American Rose society, of which Dr. Mills was president, but any person can belong to the society, whether there is an organization in his town or not. You do not have to write a thesis, or spend an apprenticeship in a hot-house, or go through an initiation—there is only one requisite, and that is that you must love roses. For a few dollars a year, each member is sent a book, from which he can learn of all new

CHAIRMEN FOR ORANGE COUNTY FAIR SELECTED

Indicating the wide range of activities and exhibits of the Orange county fair, which is to be held September 6 to 11 this year, on the state highway opposite Placentia avenue, between Santa Ana and Anaheim, is the list of division chairmen, made public today by President H. A. Lake and Manager J. R. Hunt. The list follows:

Historical and art, Mrs. A. P. Nelson, Santa Ana.
Feature test, agriculture, George Kellogg, Yorba Linda.
Boy Scouts, Roland Dye, Santa Ana.

J. R. Hunt, manager, Santa Ana. Tickets and guards, R. J. McFadden, Placentia.

Publicity, Harry Welch, Newport Beach; Mason Yould, Santa Ana; James Metzgar, Santa Ana.

INCREASE SHOWN IN SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

An increase of 449 is shown in figures bearing upon attendance in the Santa Ana city schools for the school year 1925-26, compared with that of the preceding year, according to a report prepared by A. J. Cranston, city superintendent of schools.

The total attendance for the school year just closed registered 8718, compared with 8269 for the school year 1924-25.

The total for 1925-26 was distributed as follows:
Kindergarten, 550; elementary, 3267; junior high schools, 1125; senior high schools, 1005; junior college, 284, and evening schools, 485.

There was an increase in all grades except in the Americanization day and evening schools, where the attendance dropped from 518, in 1924-25, to 485, in 1925-26.

Not less than 193 students graduated from the high school this year, of which 106 were girls. A preponderance of the "gentle sex" also is shown in the graduation figures for the junior college, from which institution 21 girls and eight boys received graduation certificates.

SOUTH MAIN STREET WIDENING

Editor Register: I noticed in Evening Register Tuesday, July 27, your reporter's review or summary regarding the South Main street controversy, in regard to widening the street and destroying the trees; but he failed to go to the foundation of information and must have wandered into the department where a 100 per cent majority is made to look like 49 per cent.

To correct this impression, wherein he refers to the petition for widening, etc., that said petition had an "apparent majority" over the protest, let me point to the fact that the protest had 94 names and a majority of approximately 100 per cent over the petition at the time this protest was presented, and had your reporter taken the time and trouble to interview the people who live on South Main street, he would have found the majority so great that it would have taken a reading glass to discover the minority figures. Or if he will take a little time to go over the protest petition, of which I have a copy in my possession, he will change his mind about the "apparent majority" for the petition for widening the street and destroying the trees.

In this same report we notice an interview with the mayor, wherein he says that the city council was not responsible for the initiative in this matter. Now, if it was not the city council, who was it? Certainly not any resident living on South Main street. The history of this agitation will show. But it is not alone my individual opinion, but many that I have talked with that this agitation began on or about the time that he was appointed to this honorable position.

Mr. Mayor also says in this interview that a hearing will be given to the South Main street residents if a 50 per cent protest is presented. Now we, the citizens of Santa Ana (not alone South Main street) would like to know why the big majority protest was ignored that was presented to the council on Tuesday evening of July 5th.

Now, Mr. Editor, in conclusion, I want to say that it is my opinion that 90 per cent of the citizens are opposed to destroying the trees and that it is rather premature to widen the street at the present time.

Reckless Driver Goes Behind Bars

Tom Kennedy, accused of reckless driving, pleaded guilty in the Santa Ana justice court yesterday and was fined $250 by Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison. Kennedy was unable to pay the fine and went to jail for 250 days. A charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor was dismissed, on motion of Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wetlin, and a reckless driving charge was substituted. Kennedy was represented in court by Attorney O. A. Jacobs.

POUNDMASTER TO OPEN WAR ON DOGS

With more than $700 collected for dog licenses since the beginning of the fiscal year, July 1, H. F. Hershey, poundmaster, warned dog owners today that he would start a drive against untaxed dogs reported to be roaming the city.

Persons who have pets and want to keep them should purchase licenses for them immediately, Hershey said.

"I'm not mixed up in this vaccine war, but I am mixed up in a war on dogs that haven't tags around their necks and there are going to be some casualties," he said.

KIDDIES TO HOLD LANTERN PARADE

A Japanese lantern parade, modeled after those seen in the Land of the Rising Sun, will feature a special playground event, set for tomorrow night at Birch park. It was announced today by L. W. Archer, director of physical education, Frances E. Willard junior high school, and superintendent of summer playground activities.

The event has been set aside for pupils attending the elementary playground centers in the city. The play period is to be preceded by the lantern parade, each group leaving its own playground at 7:30 p. m., and arriving at the park at 8 p. m. Each pupil has made his own lantern during the handwork period. With an expected attendance of close to 1000 children, an unusual color and lighting effect is expected.

A playground director will be in charge of each group, it was stated. The children will leave the park at 8:30, and return to their respective centers, where parents may meet them if they desire, Superintendent Archer explained.

ARCHITECT TO PRESERVE BATH HOUSE PLANS

NEWPORT BEACH, July 29.—The next step in securing a bathhouse and plunge for Newport Beach will be taken Monday night, when Horace Austin, Long Beach architect, appears before city trustees and presents plans and specifications for a proposed municipal bathhouse.

A petition asking city trustees to call a bond issue of $175,000 to purchase land and build the bathhouse was circulated recently by Walter C. Burris and has been filed with the city clerk. The petition will be presented to trustees Monday night.

The plan, as advanced by Burris and other signers of the petition, is to purchase the Newport Beach bath house property. The bath house is located on the site of the old bathhouse, which was burned several months ago. The bond issue would be confined to the fifth precinct, according to Burris. He declares that a special election for the district can be called by the trustees. Burris points out that if a bath house is erected, the revenue derived from the project would be used to pay off the bonded indebtedness.

Plans for the plunge and bath house have already been prepared by Austin. They include a modern steel frame building of fireproof construction with modern dressing rooms, showers and a plunge 60 by 115 feet.

Fifty voters in the fifth precinct at Newport Beach have affixed their signatures to the petition asking the trustees to call the bond election.

TOMATO CANNING PLANT ASSURED FOR LA HABRA; 100 CARS TO BE SHIPPED

LA HABRA, July 29.—Conclusion of an arrangement between F. B. Harden, manager of the La Habra Packing company, and the Union Pacific railroad, assures the establishment in La Habra of a tomato packing and shipping plant which will ship not less than 100 cars of tomatoes to the eastern market during the coming season. During its busiest time, the plant will employ 50 people.

Mr. Harden has made arrangements with the Union Pacific by which he is to have use of a large room in the railroad's freight depot and also of a large loading platform. The necessary equipment for handling the fruit will be installed in the freight room and Mr. Harden estimates that he will have facilities for sending out three carloads a day. The tomatoes which his concern contemplates handling will be of the winter crop and will be shipped green to the eastern market. Facilities will be provided, however, for handling the culls, which will be sold to canners in the Southland.

Mr. Harden already has contracts for the handling of a large acreage of tomatoes, some of which will be packed in the field and some at the local plant, but all will be shipped from here. He expects the season to open early in September and continue until some time in the winter.

SHULTZ SERVICE SET FOR FRIDAY

ORANGE, July 29.—Funeral services for Mrs. Augusta Shultz, who passed away yesterday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gustav Greenow, 151 South Shaffer street, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Coffey funeral parlors and at 2:30 o'clock from the Immanuel Lutheran church, with the Rev. Walter Loretz officiating.

Mrs. Shultz was 82 years old. She is survived by her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Greenow, and two grandchildren. Mr. Shultz, who passed away in April, 1924, and Mrs. Shultz came from Germany a few years ago to be near their daughter.

OLD POP CORN WAGON VISITS ORANGE COUNTY

ANAHEIM, July 29.—Member of the mechanical pop corn wagon? How its fascinating steam engine turned bright nickel wheels and pulleys in almost every corner, shaking the pop corn kernels as they danced into fluffy white snow over a blue-green gas flame and keeping perpetually at work the funny little old man who turned and turned and turned the roasted peanuts, keeping them warm in their unique cylindrical glass cases?

Member?

And amid a blaze of glory the wagon stood on one of the busy downtown streets, lighted by a myriad of many colored globes, some of them shining through brilliantly tinted window panes.

Around it a constant throng of young folk tugging pleadingly at other folks' hands and gazing enraptured at the spinning wheels of the miniature engine and dancing with glee as its mimic whistle let out a stirring blast from the queer pop corn man pulled the string.

Pop corn, like chewing gum, was, in those days, one of America's most popular "weekend" pastimes. A trip to town on a Saturday night was not complete unless the whole family from father and mother down to the smallest tot had visited the pop corn wagon and partaken of its wares.

Few pop corn dispensers could afford such ostentation as was represented in these mechanical "palaces" and whenever one did appear on a city's streets, it was a rare sight and attracted a large patronage.

That was 15 years ago or more and since that time, the pop corn wagon has fallen from grace as one of the principal attractions of downtown street corners.

Yesterday, one of these almost historic relics of America's past fancy passed through Anaheim, drawn behind a truck, its brightly hued windows dim with age, its nickel plated finishings corroded by rust and dirt and its wheels rattling and squeaking.

As the decrepit wreck passed slowly through the streets of the city, the ever smiling peanut-man, grinning his readiness to begin work again turning the red hot peanuts in their cylindrical glass cases, seemingly blissfully unconscious of the changes that Time had made.

The swarthy gentleman driving the truck, who is the latest owner of the contraption, will seek a location for it in some Orange county city or sell its parts for junk, he said.

It was almost 15 years ago when the writer saw this same machine in operation in San Diego and crowded around it with a throng of other admiring youngsters.

YORBA LINDA

YORBA LINDA, July 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Ebbin Ryan, Miss Mary Ryan and sons, Kenneth and Robert, left on Tuesday morning on a two weeks' camping and fishing trip. At Montebello, Mrs. Ryan's brother-in-law, Dallas Reynolds, and family joined the party. After fishing near Bishop, they will go on to Yosemite.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowrey Airey, who have been staying at the Gale apartments for several weeks, left for Fullerton on Wednesday.

Junior Hermes, of Glendora, is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Gilman.

Mr. and Mrs. Warrick Murray and family and Mrs. Charity Murray returned home Tuesday evening after a two-week camping trip in the northern part of the state. Because of the forest fires, they were unable to reach Red Bluff as they had planned.

The cottage to be used by the caretaker, Homer Beach, was moved to the new school site on Wednesday. This is the cottage that was used as the kindergarten room last year and will be put in shape at once for Mr. and Mrs. Beach and family.

On Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Toso had as dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Bond and son and Mr. William Bond, of Arizona, and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bond and daughter, of Long Beach. Mrs. B. F. Bond and baby remained for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Knott and family returned to their home at Nipona after a visit with Mrs. Knott's sister, Mrs. P. H. Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. Gurney Lindley spent last week in Yorba Linda, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson.

Mrs. R. S. Dunn was the week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Fowler in Placentia.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Berry and son, Jack, of the G and L lease, Brea, and Mrs. G. L. Leese, of Okinawa, who is spending the summer with her mother, Mrs. B. A. Berry, spent the week-end at San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Kinman and daughters returned home on Thursday after a week spent with relatives in San Diego.

EL MODENA

ORANGE, July 29.—Rafael Perez, El Modena, was given a suspended jail sentence of six months when he was brought before Justice of the Peace G. W. Ingle yesterday, charged with wife beating. It is alleged in the complaint signed by Refugio Hurtado, his wife, that Perez spent his time and money on other women and that when questioned regarding the matter, took offense and beat her up.

Perez was released upon his promise to leave other women alone and to spend his earnings on his family.

Air Patrol Planned At Newport

NEWPORT BEACH, July 29.—This city is to have an air police patrol.

Motorcycle Officers Jack Riggs and Harry Riggs are the persons who will furnish the thrills for speed violators.

The two officers have laid plans for the purchase of a fast pursuit plane. It will be equipped with pontoons and wheels, permitting its use on either land or water.

Rum runners, once spotted by the officers, will be out of luck and so will any criminals who try to escape from the city in row boats.

The officers are inspecting planes today with a view toward an immediate purchase. Jack Riggs was a pilot in the World war.

GAS INDUSTRY DETAILS TOLD

ORANGE, July 29.—Lions of Orange were entertained yesterday at their weekly luncheon meeting with an address on the history of the gas industry, delivered by George Finney, secretary of the Gas Appliance company, with offices in Los Angeles.

Special stress was placed on the improvements in gas appliances and the progress of the industry as a whole.

Musical selections were played on Hawaiian guitars by Miss Helen Boch, of Santa Ana, and Miss Marjorie Crawford, Tustin.

That a series of indoor baseball games between the local Lions' indoor team and a team from the Anaheim den of Lions will be played soon was announced by A. R. Benson, manager. The dates have not been arranged but a meeting for that purpose is scheduled soon between representatives of the two clubs.

The Trabuco canyon camp committee, composed of Paul Muench and Wilbur Lentz, reported that an investigation of the needs of the boys and girls at the camp had revealed a dearth of tooth brushes, tooth paste and oranges. These will be supplied by the Lions.

A report on the San Francisco convention of the Lions club was given by Will Kogler.

$70,000 CANNERY NEARS COMPLETION

FULLERTON, July 29.—The $70,000 Cutler-Lobinger Canning plant located on South Highland avenue, is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready about the middle of next month, according to an announcement by H. L. Dalbey, manager.

The building which is 370 feet long and 50 feet wide, is finished and workers are at present putting in the machinery, which is of the most approved type.

It is the plan of the operators to use the cannery primarily for tomatoes through the fall months, while spinach and string beans will be canned during the spring months.

Well over a hundred employees will be used when the cannery is in operation.

The Fullerton plant, which is said to be the equal of any tomato cannery in Southern California, is one of several owned by the Cutler-Lobinger interests.

Mountain Youth Murders Father

GADSDEN, Ala., July 29.—Jesse Cushman, 17-year-old son of a mountaineer, walked calmly into the sheriff's office here and surrendered, announcing that he shot and killed his father, J. W. Cushman, 65, at their home on Lookout mountain.

The boy told the sheriff that the father had beaten his 6-year-old brother into insensibility and knocked his mother down with a rock when she sought to interfere. The youth fired a single shot with a shotgun, the load of buckshot instantly killing the father.

Cushman is said to have been arrested two years ago for beating his wife, having broken her arm with a blow.

The dead man also shot and killed an infant in the arms of the mother about 20 years ago while trying to shoot another man with whom he was fighting, officers here said.

Educator Attacks Lengthy Vacation

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 29.—Lengthening of the vacation period with the resultant loss of time from study, constitutes a fundamental error in the recent trend of education insofar as the student is concerned, in the opinion of Dr. Charles Curtis Harrison, former provost of the University of Pennsylvania.

"In recent years," said Dr. Harrison, "the average age of university graduates is between 21 and 22 years. This means that the majority of them are getting to work just about three years later than was the custom when I graduated, 64 years ago."

At that time, the academic year was divided into three terms, while the intervening vacations totaled only a little more than 11 weeks.

SAYS ANAHEIM HIGH TEACHER WRECKED HOME

ANAHEIM, July 29.—Charges that Miss A. Pearl Edwards, former high school teacher of Anaheim and Long Beach, stole the affections of her husband, Gustave H. Hushman, and a request that the young woman's teaching credentials in California be revoked on the ground of alleged immoral conduct, were filed with Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, today by Mrs. Mame El Hushman, of Anaheim.

The alleged romance between Miss Edwards and Hushman, which stranded the Hushman marital ship and led to divorce proceedings, began last summer in Long Beach and continued in Long Beach, when Miss Edwards obtained a position in the schools of that city, according to the accusation.

Charges of "more than one all night booze party" marked Mrs. Hushman's communication, which said that her husband followed Miss Edwards to Long Beach and frequented her apartments at 3517 Colorado street.

Mr. Hushman requested state action taking away Miss Edwards' credentials. Mrs. Hushman presented a copy of her divorce complaint which named the teacher as co-respondent. Mrs. Hushman has been granted an interlocutory decree which will not become final, she said, until Jan. 22, 1927.

Hushman, a service station operator in Anaheim, is leader of the Huntington Beach municipal band.

W. L. Rhodes Dies In La Habra Home

LA HABRA, July 29.—W. L. Rhodes, pioneer resident of La Habra, passed away at his home at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning following a lingering illness. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

LA HABRA BRIEFS

LA HABRA, July 29.—An informal tea was given by Miss Evelyn Pellerin at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Pellerin, 215 North Hiatt street, Saturday afternoon for the members of the Sigma Iota Chi society of the Woodbury Business college, of which she is president.

Misses Rhena and Theresa Marcell, who are home from a nine month vaudeville tour, gave an interesting entertainment. Prof. R. E. Patrick rendered a number of humorous songs. The remainder of the afternoon was spent playing bunko, first prize going to Vivian Murdock, with the consolation to Ella Ellingson.

Tea was given to the following guests: Margaret Zike, Theresa Marcell, Rhena Marcell, all of Whittier; Ella Mouton, of La Fayette, La.; Miss Evelyn, Leta and Rhena Pellerin, Mrs. E. D. ## EVENING SALUTATION

Gratitude is the fairest blossom which springs from the soul; and the heart of man knoweth none more fragrant.

JOHN MUIR ON EARTHQUAKES

Nothing, said Shakespeare, is either good or bad but thinking makes it so.

And it develops that this applies to earthquakes just as it does to anything else in this world. An article in a recent number of Scribner's Magazine quotes our own John Muir on the subject and dubs his words as the nearest approach "to a sympathetic treatment of the theme" on record.

Muir was sojourning in the Yosemite Valley when the following noble experience befell him. To use his own words:

"We had a glorious storm of the kind called earthquake. . . . It is delightful to be trotted and dumbled on our mother's mountain knee. I hope we will be blessed with some more. The first shock of the morning at 2:30 o'clock was the most sublime storm I ever experienced. Though I never had enjoyed a storm of this sort, the thrilling motion could not be mistaken, and I ran out of my cabin, both glad and frightened, shouting, 'A noble earthquake!' feeling sure I was going to learn something. . . .

"These earthquakes have made me immensely rich. I have long been aware of the life and gentle tenderness of the rocks, and, instead of walking upon them as unfeeling surfaces, began to regard them as a transparent sky. Now they have spoken with audible voices and pulsed with common motion. . . .

Perhaps when the next earth shocks come it would help some to view them as John Muir did. There may be great comfort in his philosophy.

WHITE PINE CAMP

The President goes, appropriately enough, from the White House at Washington to White Pine Camp in the Adirondacks, for his summer vacation.

It is a pleasant, quiet place, probably as well fitted as any place could be to rest a weary mind and body and fit a busy executive for another year's round of office work.

He can fish and go swimming, and sit in the shade. The public has no easy access there, as it has in Washington. The newspaper men are kept at a greater distance, subjected to the hardship of living at a luxurious summer hotel on the edge of a lovely lake four miles away, with plenty of diversions to overcome their boredom while waiting for something to happen at White Pine Camp worth chronicling.

But there is no such ease at White Pine Camp as the average sovereign citizen might feel in a similar situation. A cottage has been fitted up near the presidential lodge for "summer executive officers," for the transaction of official business, and there are telegraph and telephone wires running direct from the cottage to Washington.

The President cannot take a vacation, like other men. His job follows him implacably wherever he may go. It is necessarily with him day and night.

AN EASTERN PLAYGROUND

President Coolidge's summer sojourn in the Adirondacks will serve, among other things, to give deserved publicity to a region seldom known and appreciated outside of the Empire State.

It is, as new visitors almost universally testify, a beautiful realm of mountains, lakes, streams and forests, of a kind seldom associated by distant Americans with any place in such proximity to the populous eastern centers. The mountains lack the ruggedness and majesty of the Rockies, but have their own impressive grandeur and loveliness. The waters are blue and clear, the woods deep and extensive, the roads excellent.

Many a sojourner from the West and South has been surprised especially at the wildness and spaciousness of the big park maintained there by New York State. Many a visitor from neighboring states has been surprised to discover that between the Hudson and the St. Lawrence lies an area more unspoiled by man than can be found in Canada without faring far north. So, on your next trip East, see the Adirondacks.

THE AX FOR WILL ROGERS

The Prince of Wales, it develops, is not only a beau ideal but an effective joker. He handed Will Rogers one the other day which landed just about where Rogers deserved to have it, for all the fun he has poked at the Prince's horsemanship, when as everybody in England knows, it's the horse, not the Prince, that falls.

Wales, while doing the London honors for the roughneck American humorist, remarked gently to a listening world:

"What a pity it is that people are no longer beheaded in the Tower of London! We would like to know what Mr. Rogers would say when he felt the cold steel of an ax at the back of his neck."

The genial Will actually shrank up and shuddered when he heard that. He's naturally a bit sensitive about that neck, anyway, but ordinarily doesn't think of axes, knowing that what he deserves is a rope.

FAITH IN YOUTH

Rev. Daniel A. Poling of New York City spoke some powerful words in defense of the young people of today when he addressed the closing session of the World's Christian Endeavor convention in London recently.

"In my experience," he declared, "the greater fault lies at the door of adult life. Give young men and women leadership and example and they will repay their debt to the utmost, with the attributes of sound character and with clean and sacrificial deeds. Again and again I have seen them rise above sad home environments to build better than their fathers, and seldom have I known them failing in any real moral test.

"We do not indict all bankers when one banker defaults; we do not indict all representatives of governments when one or several politicians betray; we do not indict all clergymen when one proves unfaithful in his ordination vows.

"We must give youth our confidence. Stop slandering youth."

They are words of truth, but age finds it hard to understand youth now just as it always has, and youth has to fight its own battles and win through to its own victory almost unaided. Faith in youth on the part of the grown-ups who come nearest to understanding is the encouragement that the young people want. It should be given to them freely.

The greatest problem most cities face today is how to deal with the parking sneaker—the fellow that spies the one space left just after you have, and who horns in ahead of you and walks off.

Our Laggard Laws

San Diego Union

"We allow anybody to drive a dangerous engine of destruction all over the country, without determining his fitness." In this phrase, Secretary Hoover acknowledges the fact that the use of the automobile has grown out of all proportion to the progress of the laws governing its use. Although there is an automobile in almost every family, although the highways are crowded with them and the nation spends billions to provide still more highways, the regulations governing automobiles are not far advanced from where they were when an automobile was an eccentric toy and the man who drove one had the deserted highways of three counties upon which to experiment.

Not only are the regulations ridiculously inadequate to the condition they purport to regulate, but their enforcement is even less reasonable than their substance—a situation which, of course, does not apply to motoring laws alone.

We pretend to assume a severe official attitude toward fool drivers who repeatedly offend against the regulations; yet any attention to the daily news reveals case after case where habitual offenders are given inconsequential fines or "suspended sentences"—the latter, in some instances, piling up until the individual offender has enough suspended sentences to occupy him for a year or more, if ever he were to be forced to serve them. And we find that where the offender is a prominent person, the courts frequently adopt the theory that the public is not greatly endangered by the recklessness of a prominent citizen—a big-league ball player or a prize-fighter—and the penalties imposed are either nominal or fantastic.

The automobile has outgrown our ideas regarding it and that is the chief reason why it is allowed to crush out 20,000 lives every year.

Parking Porkers Scored

San Diego Sun

Much has been said and written about the "Road Hog," but there is another variety of incipient harm that is entitled to a small share of the auto lime-light, and he is the Parking Porker.

When large numbers of autos park by the organ pavilion, in the downtown districts, or elsewhere on special occasions, there is always found the occasional driver who, seeking ample room to make his own get-away, places his car so that there is just not quite enough room for another car to get in front of him. This wastes a lot of space and, in the aggregate, deprives others of parking space conveniently situated.

It would be impracticable to provide by ordinance the exact number of feet and inches of space to be left by each parked car, but auto parking provides an ideal opportunity to exhibit courtesy and thoughtfulness of others. For, strange as it may seem, the Golden Rule, promulgated in the days of sandal and camel travel, would still solve most of the problems of modern traffic.

The Vacation Urge

Oakland Tribune

There was once a San Franciscan who prided himself on the fact that he had not visited the Cliff House and beach for twenty years. And in order to add years to the record of which he seemed proud it is easily possible that he was forced to forego many a pleasant jaunt with family and friends, thus upholding his tradition.

Here and there individuals are found who also pride themselves on the number of years they have remained in one spot, eschewing vacations. "No place is more beautiful than my city," they will say, "and here I remain." And they thus are bound by the chains of habit and like the Prisoner of Chillon, grow to love the chains that bind them.

Such viewpoints are rare and exceptional, however. The vacation urge is almost universal. Eight hundred years before the birth of Christ, a bulletin of the National Geographical Society points out, people were yielding to the lure of taking an annual outing during the heat of summer. And this urge will continue to remain for countless centuries to come.

There are biological reasons for it.

Editorial Shorts

Among the suggestions in Berkeley's campaign for a safety in vehicular traffic appears this paragraph: "No vehicle passenger should allow the driver of the vehicle in which he is riding to fail to stop at the signs without reminding him of the fact; and no chauffeur, delivery driver or taxi driver should bring discredit upon his employer or company by failing to make a perfect stop." Which sounds a good deal like an endorsement of "back seat driving."—Stockton Record.

Motor travel may be broadening, but so often it is only fattening.—Dayton Daily News.

PAIN SAVES LIVES

Pain may be defined as a peculiar, a particular sensation occurring in an animal body. Siddhuti says "Pain is a mental state, an element of consciousness, due to the perception of an injury to the body or to the sensual feelings."

It gives rise to hunger, satiety, nausea, thirst, physical or mental depression or exhilaration. It also produces the feeling of fatigue and exhaustion. Its opposite is pleasure which is also a mental state and represents a natural tendency of our energies to seek that which brings satisfaction. Both pain and pleasure are special sensations provided by nature for the preservation of the individual and the race.

Many interesting facts are disclosed when we begin to interpret pain. In general, there are two classes of pain. One is spoken of as objective, being caused by obvious injury, disease or deranged function.

The other is subjective, having no perceptible organic basis for its presence. Due consideration must always be given to the mental state, to the degree of health of the sufferer and to the physical findings.

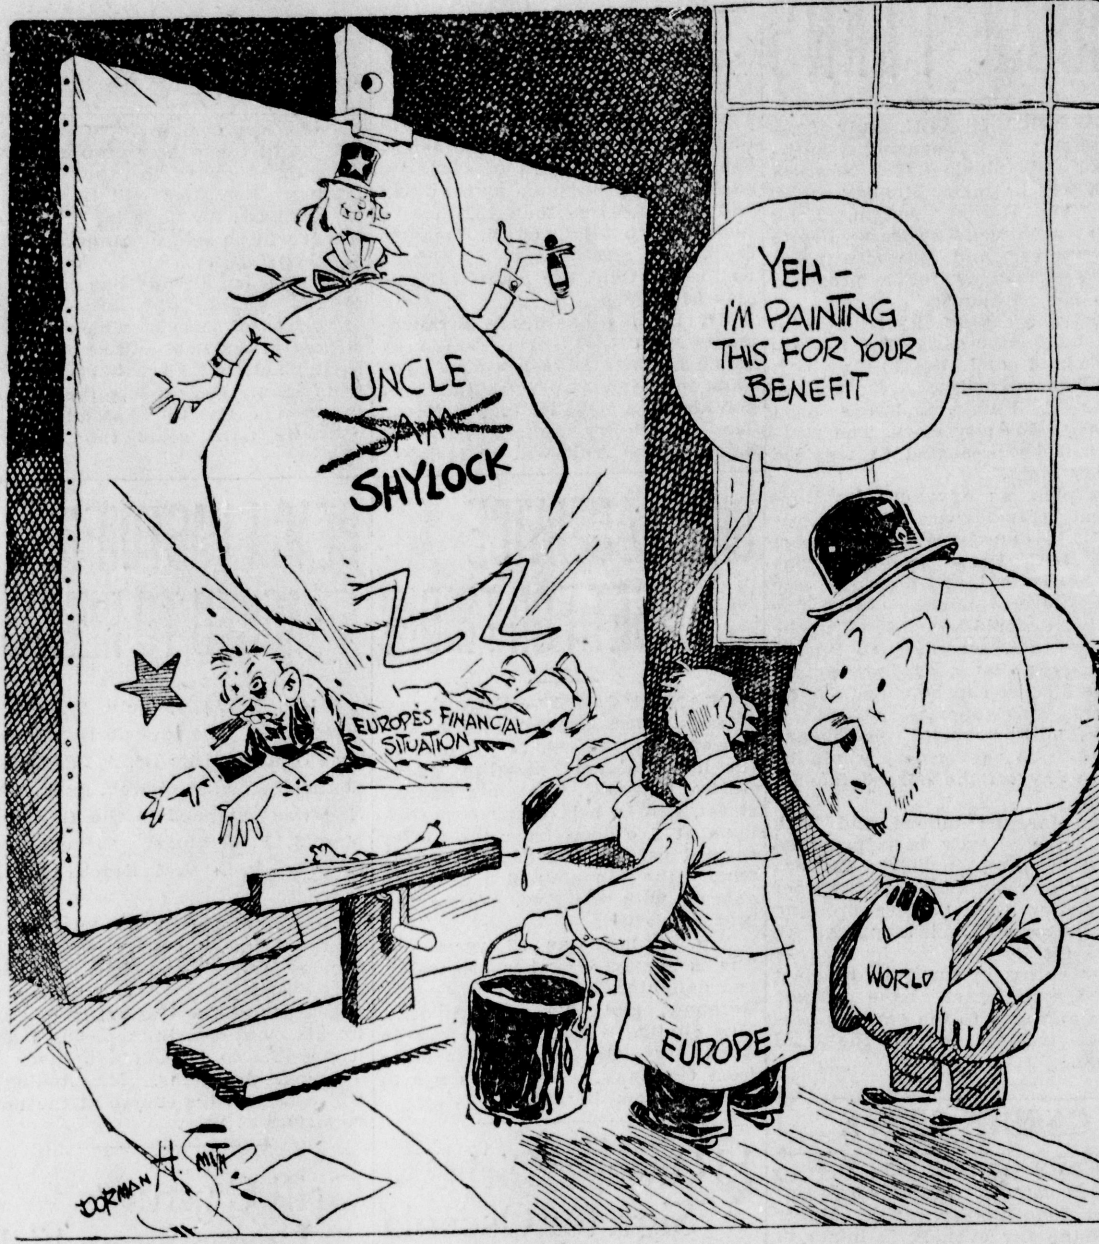

The pains of indigestion are caused by the use of improper food and the practice of hurried eating. Occasionally such pains are forebodings of more serious maladies.

When proper food habits fail to relieve such pains promptly, skilled examination and treatment are necessary. Self drugging affords only temporary relief, and may lead to serious consequences.

Headaches are often protests against over-indulgence in food and drink. In some cases they may indicate a grave and serious condition—for example—brain tumor, optic nerve disease, pernicious anemia and other diseases.

Even the pain of sunburn, as comparatively trivial as it may seem, is a warning against too sudden and prolonged exposure of the skin to strong sunlight.

A Test of Education

New York Post

A terrible inquisition at the De Witt Clinton high school and one meant to torture the soul and wring the conscience. But there were more giggles than groans as Dr. Herman H. Horne, professor of the history of education at New York university, put twenty-five questions to the 661 graduates, each to answer for himself.

In the main the students, as they sat in the hall at Central Park with their parents in another section looking on, regarded the questions as a fair test of education and upright young men and women. But some of the questions were not taken too seriously—for instance:

This was greeted with waves of laughter and, without variation, answered "Yes."

Laughter again broke out when there came the question, "Am I slow to borrow and quick to pay back?" And again when it was asked, "Have I decided against cigarettes?" Dr. Horne quickly explained, as the parents laughed, also, that he was not opposed to adults smoking. Some of the other questions were:

Do I carry myself well?

Do I earn some of the money I spend?

Can I speak the English language correctly—grammatically and with proper pronunciation?

Do I love to read a good book?

Would I rather listen to good music than to jazz?

Am I interested in literature and science?

Do I acquire knowledge because I want to or because I have to?

If I had a free choice, would I quit school today or would I go on?

Am I inclined to think for myself?

Do I speak to servants politely?

Do I get out of difficulties by telling the truth?

Would I cheat on examinations if I knew I could without detection?

Is it love of right that keeps me from doing wrong?

Dr. Horne said that any person who could score 75 per cent on the questions could consider himself educated.

Worth While Verse

DISCOVERING A FRIEND

If sorrow never happened and trouble never came, The only thing you'd know about your neighbor is his name; If all your days were bright and fair and certain was your place, You'd only know a fellow by the features of his face. Acquaintances upon this earth are all you'd ever own, If care had always passed you by and grief you'd never known.

Time was I used to nod to one who lived across the way; I knew his name and he knew mine; we passed the time of day. But nothing did he mean to me, and nothing I to him, Until one morning sorrow came and all my world was grim. I saw his face, I felt his hand, and knew he'd come to lend The strength I needed, and right then I found I had a friend.

'Tis not in sunshine friends are made, but when our skies are gray. The splendid souls that men possess are never on display. We cannot tell what lies behind the hasty nod or smile. Nor what of worth will come from it in just a little while. We only know that when we face the cares that life must send We realize the passer-by has changed into a friend.

Wood Justified in Protest

San Bernardino Sun

The action of the Richardson appointees on the state board of education in barring for admitted political reasons appointment of two heads of teachers' colleges has in reality become the major issue of the gubernatorial campaign.

Will C. Wood, superintendent of public instruction, waited 10 days for Governor Richardson to disavow the action of his appointees. The disavowal did not come and Mr. Wood is now justified in his declaration:

"It is now evident the governor's war on education is to continue with no quarter for any school man or woman who does not admit political allegiance to Governor Richardson. The governor's purpose is to force the schools and school people of the state into the most abject political subservience."

It had been generally hoped there would be no great demonstration by the friends of the schools of California and the Richardson administration, even though the school supporters have felt that the governor had not been fair in his utterances and acts during the early part of his administration.

It is not wise for the schools to be plunged into an open clash with other departments of the state government, but the frank declaration on behalf of the majority members of the state board of education that no school executive could be appointed who had not kept step with the governor's ideas raised an issue that must be fought out once and for all.

The issue is whether Governor Richardson, or any other governor, is to attempt to muzzle the thoughts and words of men and women in the state school system. It has never been required that an instructor had to think and act in political accord with the governor in order to secure advancement in his chosen profession. Promotion in the school system has been supposed to be on merit, rather than because of political allegiance.

To keep the history of the matter definite it should be briefly restated. Four members of the state board of education, all of them

Richardson appointees and all of them members of the newspaper association of which Governor Richardson is the president, refused to confirm Mr. Wood's appointment of William John Cooper and A. B. Anderson, as presidents of teachers' colleges. C. A. Stork, a Santa Barbara newspaper publisher, made this declaration in explanation of the board's action, according to the San Francisco Chronicle, a newspaper not unfriendly to Governor Richardson:

"Personally I am sure no member of the board has any fault to find with the educational fitness of Cooper or Anderson. It was simply a question of political fitness. Three years ago, Cooper, as a delegate to a convention of county school superintendents in Riverside, either voted for or stood mutely by while a resolution, denouncing Governor Richardson's budget, was adopted and a resolution, praising Will C. Wood, was adopted. The state board of education has no place for a man who is inimical to the administration of Governor Richardson."

Persons connected with the school system—certainly county school superintendents who owed no allegiance to the governor—had the right to criticize the governor's attitude toward teachers' colleges or other features of education. If persons who know the needs of the schools are to sit mutely by with efficiency of education is reduced by a governor or any other officials or they are not to be permitted to discuss the matter, how will the people ever be advised of the difference of opinion on a question vital to them?

Mr. Wood had not planned, at least as late as several weeks ago when he was in San Bernardino, to take any part in the gubernatorial campaign. He said as much on his visit here.

The head of the state school system is thoroughly justified in his attitude to take the issue direct to the people of California. It is his duty to those who seek proper educational facilities that he present the matter in all its details.

These 17,000,000 telephones are interconnected so that communication can be easily established between practically any two of them.

This interconnection of different telephone systems in the United States, and the linking up of Canadian and Cuban networks as well, gives American telephone users access to a vastly greater number of telephones than can be reached from any telephone in Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia or South America.

In Europe, for example, it is estimated that only from 3,500,000 to 4,000,000 telephones are interconnected in such a way as to make conversation possible between any two of them. Europe has, in all, somewhat over 7,000,000 telephones, but a large proportion of them are not capable of being put into communication with one another.

The number of telephones in any of the remaining continents is very small in comparison with the showing of North America. Asia has something over three-quarters of a million telephones, while Africa, Australia and South America have only a few hundred thousand each. Moreover, these are divided among isolated systems to such an extent that the number of telephones which are interconnectible is still more limited.

Did You Ever Stop to Think

By Edson R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce

THAT "it can be done" is a good slogan.

THAT in some cities too many business men spend too much time on the mourner's bench.

THAT a lot of people should talk more business and less gossip, and not try to "high brow" their way.

THAT a little carelessness in talking sometimes does much harm.

THAT sometimes a convenient memory comes in handy; sometimes it gets you in wrong.

THAT it does not pay to hunt grief—it finds you quick enough.

THAT some people talk as though business were only a half human.

THAT that's all wrong—the majority of the business men are boosters and city builders.

THAT their thoughts are not all for cold efficiency in business and the making of dollars.

THAT business men are just plain living and thinking people like the rest of the folks. They are very much human and have an in-born love for the home city.

MODERN BUSINESS MEN GIVE FREELY OF THEIR TIME AND MONEY TOWARDS THE UP-BUILDING OF THE COMMUNITY IN WHICH THEY LIVE.
